NAZI SMASH AT GREECE DUE IN 48 HOURS

STATE LIBRARY OF MASSACHUSETTS
MAR 8 - 1941
STATE HOUSE, BOSTON

—Sofia Reports

SOFIA, March 7 (AP)—Neutral military observers heard tonight that German troops massed on the Greek and Turkish frontiers may launch an attack from Bulgaria on eastern Macedonia and Thrace "within 48 hours."

More than 150,000 Nazi troops, hundreds of tanks and armored cars already are in position for a quick attack.

F.D. FLAYS DEFENSE STRIKE

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 7 — President Roosevelt today condemned the practice of calling jurisdictional strikes and intimated strongly that the Administration was about to establish a central mediation agency in Washington to handle labor disputes in the defense industries.

Specifically, the President condemned the jurisdictional strike of A. F. of L. unions which now is holding up defense construction at Wright Field, Dayton, O.

The Chief Executive told his press conference it was absolutely desirable that jurisdictional strikes be stopped. He said he did not think the country as a whole approve in any way, shape or form a strike such as that now in progress at the Ohio air field.

The new board which the President has in mind would be a separate unit, and not superimposed on the office of production management.

WEIGHS NEW BOARD

Mr. Roosevelt cautioned that it still was in the study stage and that in addition to being a court of last resort in labor disputes it also would be charged with looking ahead to the situation which will prevail once the emergency is over and production returns to normal.

In this way, he pointed out, the board might have a much broader field than the Taft-Walsh board which was set up in World War 1 to mediate labor difficulties.

As he explained it, within a given industry there will be regional problems, cost of living problems, congestion problems and a number of other angles, all of which must be taken into consideration in looking at the broad picture.

No legislation will be needed to establish this agency. Presumably it will be set up roughly as the Taft-Walsh board was in 1917-18.

BANS LABOR DRAFT

The President said he did not know just how the problem of jurisdictional strikes might be handled, labelling that one of the Administration's difficulties.

A reporter suggested that co-operation from union leaders in Washington might serve to diminish the number of strikes within the labor organization.

Mr. Roosevelt said this was theoretically a grand idea and worked out in a lot of instances. There are lots of cases, he said, where the local workers get pretty hot but are willing to listen to advice from their top leaders in Washington. On the other hand, there are instances where they refuse to listen to such advice.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Extended forecast for the period from 7:30 p. m., Friday to 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, March 12: During the next five days the temperature will average colder than normal over all of New England. Normals are Boston, Nantucket and New Haven, 34, Portland, 30, Concord, N. H., 28, and Burlington and Eastport, 27. Colder weather at the beginning of the period will be followed by a reaction to warmer during the middle of the period; colder again at the end of the period. The total precipitation will average heavy, over two-thirds of an inch, in southern New England, and moderate, between one-third and two-thirds of an inch, in northern New England, falling chiefly at the beginning of the period as snow in northern and rain or snow in southern New England. Light precipitation is indicated near the end of the period.

YUGOSLAVS NEUTRAL, BUT LEAN TO AXIS

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 7 (AP)—A visit by Regent Prince Paul to Adolf Hitler's fateful Berchtesgaden conference table was disclosed today, and the Yugoslav government—under mounting diplomatic pressure from both Britain and the Axis—was expected momentarily to proclaim closer friendship with Germany and Italy, but also to reaffirm its strict neutrality.

With a statement clarifying Yugoslavia's position anticipated within 24 hours, it was learned authoritatively Prince Paul went to Berchtesgaden Monday, returning here Thursday.

Informed quarters said the Yugoslav statement would explain the government's attitude "in the light of the new situation" arising from the occupation of Axis-aligned Bulgaria, Yugoslavia's next-door neighbor.

FOLLOWED TWO AIDES

Paul's visit to Berchtesgaden, where the fate of so many European countries has been decided, followed a trip there by Premier Dragisha Cvetkovic and Foreign Minister Aleksander Cincar-Markovic. They were received by Hitler Feb. 14.

The two discussed with Hitler

Senate Kills U. S. Convoy Ban; Roosevelt Warns of Aid Delay

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 7 (INS)—On the heels of a warning from President Roosevelt for speed, Administration forces scored a major victory today when the Senate rejected a proposal to write a provision into the lease-lend bill barring U. S. armed forces from participating in delivery of materials to Britain.

The vote was 63 to 28.

The action was taken despite a fervid plea by Sen. O'Mahoney (D.) of Wyoming—sponsor of the rejected provision—to keep "U. S. vessels outside the arena of war."

The Administration triumph came only a few hours after the President had declared every day of delay in enacting the lease-lend bill means another day of delay in delivering aid to Britain.

The O'Mahoney amendment was caught between two fires. Administration leaders attacked it on the ground it sought to weaken power of the President as commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy.

AID BACKERS IN CONTROL

Opponents of the bill split their votes. Some voted against the amendment on the ground that it was not drastic enough.

Defeat of the O'Mahoney amendment, however, indicated that, temporarily at least, Administration leaders were definitely in command of the Senate in the aid Britain fight.

Mr. Roosevelt reminded his press conference he previously had said perhaps consideration of the legislation would not hold up deliveries to England in February and early March, but he indicated the program now has reached the point where prompt action by Congress on the bill is essential.

As the situation now stands, every day of delay in Congress

BRITISH RUSH TO AID TURKS' PLAN TO FLANK NAZI MARCH ON GREECE

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 7 (AP)—The British were reported rushing all their spare equipment to the Turks, the Germans commandeered transport to accelerate the flow of Nazi troops to the Greek frontier, and the Greeks hastily strengthened their fortifications today as a new Balkan war front appeared to be in the swift making.

The British, it was said, were making every effort to strengthen their allies against the first shock and were rushing equipment to the Turks, who are in a position to launch a flank attack on the German army if it attempts an invasion of Greece.

Greek diplomatic quarters here said they believed the Turks would launch a drive into the Rhodope mountains, a chain extending east and west along the Bulgarian-Greek frontier, if Germany does attempt an offensive.

The Greek army "absolutely will fight any German invasion," these quarters said.

MAY ABANDON THRACE

Preparing for all eventualities, the Greeks were reported removing civilians from the threatened area in Thrace, and bolstering with troops and artillery their positions along the narrow defiles of the Struma river.

To observers it appeared likely that Greek Gen. Alexander Papagos intended to abandon Thrace, the narrow coastal sector between the Struma and Turkey, as indefensible. Bulgaria long has coveted at least part of it.

The Struma river runs in a generally north and south direction from the Bulgarian border to the Aegean, a distance of some 60 miles, entering the sea at the Gulf of Orfani (Rendina) east of Salonika. The stream passes through Lake Takhinos before entering the Aegean about 70 miles west of the Turkish border.

Should the Greeks elect to make a stand along this line, abandoning Thrace, they would have a sector little more than 25 miles wide to defend along the Bulgarian frontier.

VALONA TARGET

Meanwhile it was believed the Greeks planned an intensive effort to capture the Albanian port of Valona from the Italians to anchor the western end of their battle line before the Nazis could launch an attack.

German preparations were evident on all sides as Nazi troops rolled toward the Greek frontier in trains, trucks, buses and even private cars.

Since the end of October, the Germans have been concentrating stocks of oil and food in Bulgaria. Munitions and supplies which they had ordered here now are being moved up toward the Greek border.

Further evidence of the expected German drive was seen in the arrival in Sofia of throngs of uniformed Nazi war correspondents, as well as an increased number of army officers.

Snow, Gales Head for Hub

Hard-dying winter will produce more snow this week-end, along with more gales, in practically a repetition of last week-end, the weather bureau warned today.

The snow is scheduled to start falling tonight over Southern New England, which includes the Greater Boston area, and tomorrow there is a probability that the snow will turn to rain, with bad driving conditions accompanying.

Total snowfall over eastern sections of New England is expected to be two to four inches and in western sections about three inches.

1ST U. S. CITY BLACKOUT!

10,000 Guard Seattle All-Out Test Tonight

SEATTLE, March 7 (AP)—Tonight will be blackout night in Seattle, the first such wartime test in a major American city.

More than 10,000 men and Boy Scouts have been recruited as traffic guardians, light snuffers, fire alarm box watchers, residence patrols and the myriad other jobs involved.

Traffic must be stopped, cigarettes smothered, street and traffic lights turned off or covered and lights extinguished or windows covered in thousands of homes and buildings.

It has been a big job for the official committee, but that's just a starter. Take a hotel, for example.

800 ROOMS TO BLACK

Before the warning is sounded for the 15-minute blackout at 10:40 p. m., all the rooms must be called. That's no small job in itself in an 800-room hostelry, with banquet and entertainment halls to worry about.

It's no simple matter of pulling the master switches. The house detective must rally a corporal's guard. It means guards at every entry and exit to dissuade guests from going out.

Bellboys, porters and assistant managers must stand guard at darkened stairways down which groping guests might fall. Hundreds of fire escape lights must be switched of individually.

While street traffic is paralyzed, the trains will be an exception. Passengers will find the station platform much like the inside of a mountain tunnel.

WHOLE NATION WATCHES

But a Great Northern train leaving just at blackout time will travel under special dispensation. Its glaring headlight will cut the inky darkness along the city's edge. But brakemen's lanterns will be taboo.

"This can't be a success unless everyone does his part," said Mayor John Carroll in his final appeal. "The whole country will be watching us and we want to demonstrate what we can do by community effort."

Army and Navy airplanes will circle overhead to photograph the dark metropolitan "island" below. Army, Navy and Air Corps officials will be on hand to watch the experiment, along with officials from cities of western Canada, Washington and Oregon.

Nagging Mate Wins Divorce for Socialite

Charging that her wealthy socialite spouse nagged her, made her life miserable by constant complaints about money matters and was indifferent to his children, Mrs. William B. Wheelwright, Jr., of Boston, Newport and Framingham won an uncontested divorce today.

The final blow to their marital existence came in December of 1939, the young matron told Judge James V. Mahoney in Suffolk probate court, when she wanted to go on a vacition because of ill-health and her husband told her:

"You haven't had a vacation in the five and a half years we've been married. I don't see why on earth you want to go on one now."

POURS OUT HER WOES

Mrs. Wheelwright is the former Eliza Ingersoll Bowditch, daughter of Manfred Bowditch and Mrs. E. Sohier Welch of this city.

In blue ribbon circles she has always been noted as a beauty and in court today she proved that even her unhappy married life hadn't lost her her looks.

Glad in a black fur-trimmed coat, with a small black hat and a saucy red feather, the 27-year-old brunette poured out her version of the woes that made her unhappy, upset and rundown.

She was backed in her story of what marriage did to her health by Dr. Roy R. Wheeler of Bay State rd., and she had a number of other witnesses ready to take the stand when Judge Mahoney halted testimony and granted the decree on grounds of cruelty.

COUPLE HAVE TWO SONS

She was married June 30, 1934, Mrs. Wheelwright told the court. What she didn't explain was that her wedding, at fashionable St. John's Church in Beverly Farms, was THE event of that season.

Two boys were born of the union with young Wheelwright, son of a wealthy Chicagoan. The boys, Barnes, now 5, and Peter, 3, were given into the custody of the mother.

"My husband continually nagged and criticized me in front of others as well as when we were alone," she testified.

"THREW GLASS AT ME"

"He had a bad temper and a twisted sense of humor. He often made fun of me when we had guests and he was indifferent to our children most of the time.

"In 1939, when we were spending the summer at Manchester, he worked himself up one morning at breakfast so that he finally threw a glass of water at me. And we had another couple at the table with us at the time."

Mrs. Wheelright explained that the glass of water didn't connect, but that the glass hit the floor with the usual result.

BULLETIN

COLUMBIA, La., March 7 (AP)—Dist. Atty. C. C. Minard this morning positively forbade Sheriff G. E. Erskine of Caldwell parish to permit four condemned prisoners here to broadcast over radio station WMLB of Monroe just before their execution today.

COLUMBIA, La., March 7 (AP)—Four condemned killers, due to die on the gallows today, declared in statements prepared for broadcast from their death cells that there was no way to win in crime. The quadruple executions are scheduled to begin at noon.

STATEMENTS ON AIR

The statments, ranging from 80 to 500 words, were to be broadcast over Station KMLB of Monroe, La.

"I feel hard toward nobody," Boyce said in his statement, "but sometimes it is hard to forgive when you know a lot of misery and suffering could be avoided if those in charge tried a little more to live by the golden rule. May this be a lesson to all the boys who are doing wrong. And now goodbye, and I hope to meet you all in Heaven."

Heard, in his statement, asserted:

"I would like to tell all of the youngsters and old timers, too, that crime does not pay. There is no such thing as 'easy money.' A very small percentage end up as I am, but they pay just the same."

TRIBUTE TO MOTHER

Meharg devoted most of his statement in tribute to his mother, whom he called "the sweetest mother in the world."

He said that she had "slaved over a washtub doing other people's laundry that she might give me and other members of the family the necessities of life." He requested that the song "If I Could Hear My Mother Pray Again" be played on a harmonica and dedicated to her.

"During the time I was wasting my life in crime and sin," he continued, "my dear mother was praying that I would not be taken from this life in that sinful condition, and I am happy and thankful that her prayers have at last been answered."

Landers, in a brief statement, said there was not much "a fellow can say at a time like this. May God bless my dear wife and little son. Goodbye to you all."

ELTINGE, HUB STAGE STAR, DIES AT 57

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Julian Eltinge, 57, actor who won international note as a female impersonator, died at his Manhattan apartment today after a brief illness.

The screen, stage and concert figure for whom Broadway's Eltinge Theater was named was stricken with a kidney ailment several days ago and complications followed.

Born in Newtonville, Mass., as William Dalton, he was educate in thde public schools of Los Angeles, San Francisco, Boston and Butte, Mont. He made his first stage appearance in 1904 in "Mr. Wix of Wickham." He later entered vaudeville as a female impersonator and for five years toured this country and Europe.

For more than 20 years thereafter he appeared in plays, musicals and concerts on Broadway and on the screen.

Medical Trial Judge Frees 4

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Justice James M. Proctor of federal district court refused today to direct acquittal of the American Medical Ass'n, on trial for violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, but directed acquittal of four of the A. M. A.'s co-defendants.

Justice Department prosecution of the organizations and doctors is based on charges of a conspiracy to restrain trade, in alleged hampering of activities of the Group Health Ass'n, a co-operative whose members recieve medical treatment in return for a fixed monthly fee.

Blood Trail Leads to Break Find, Arrest

By following a trail of blood more than a mile and a half from Whidden Memorial Hospital to a cafe in Ferry st., Everett, police officers discovered a break and arrested the alleged intruder today.

The suspicions of hospital nurses were aroused when a man came to then in the early morning for treatment of a lacerated hand.

Sergt. Everett C. Perkins and a squad of officers went to the hospital and with the use of flashlights methodically traced a trail of blood spots along sidewalks and around corners to the Rendezvous cafe, Ferry st.

There they found a rear window smashed, the glass stained with blood.

Returning to the hospital, the officers questioned the patient, then took him to the Everett police station. He gave the name of Melchore Cuilla, 24, of Ferry st., Everett.

2 SOLONS OFFER BLOOD TO REP. JONES

Two legislative colleagues today offered to donate their blood to Rep. William A. Jones of Barnstable, House majority leader, who is at the Massachusetts General Hospital awaiting an operation for a kidney ailment.

The offers came from Reps. Rudolph F. King of Millis, assistant House minority leader, and John H. Carroll, Dorchester Democrat. Both volunteered for a transfusion when doctors made known the need for blood to enable Rep. Jones to withstand the serious operation.

The stricken Republican leader was transferred to the hospital here from the Cape Cod Hospital in Hyannis when his condition took a critical turn early this week.

Second N. E. Nun In Nazi Prison

With discovery that a second New England nun is a prisoner of the Nazis in a concentration camp, public officials and friends in Berlin, N. H, today intensified efforts to bring about their release.

Publicity resulting from the action to obtain freedom for Sister Angelline of Jesus inspired relatives of a second American-born nun, Sister Leonie of Jesus, to appeal for help in her behalf.

Like Sister Angeline, Sister Leonie, from Dover, N. H., is also believed to be held in a concentration camp in occupied France.

While Berlin authorities launched similar moves in behalf of the second victim, they awaited possible action by Dr. Herbert Scholz, German consul at Boston.

Greater Hub's 'Minute Women' Plan School for Home Defense Tactics

Greater Boston, which gave the nation the Minute Men, today was setting the patriotic pace again, but this time through its Minute Women.

Believed to be the first of its kind in the country, a Women's Civilian Defense School is being formed to train women in emergency defense services in time of war.

Brig.-Gen. Daniel Needham, official of the Massachusetts Committee of Public Safety, met with several hundred prospective women students at a Y. W. C. A. dinner and declared:

"Anybody who thinks this is silly, better not stay here. If we make adequate preparations for any eventuality, the chances are we won't be invaded. This will be a warfare of populations, not of armies."

OPENS ON APRIL 2

The school, according to the prominent socialite, Miss Natalie Hays Hammond of the Gloucester Women's Defense Corps, will open on April 2 at a site yet to be determined.

While the whole nation watches the experiment, the women will be given intensive instructions in air-raid service, the digging of wounded out of shelters, rescuing of persons trapped in ruins, the driving of ambulances during blackouts and in street warden work.

In short, the school will endeavor to simulate as near as possible conditions which now are being experienced by the civilians of London. The feminine students will wear specially-designed uniforms, similar to those worn by members of Miss Hammond's Gloucester Defense Corps.

Enrollment for the first session of the unique school closes March 25. Robert Homans will issue the blanks for enlistment at room 209 of the State House. A men's school will be formed later, Miss Hammond said.

While the tuition is $35, organizers of the school expressed belief that communities or organizations will sponsor the training of women they recommend and thus underwrite the costs.

HOME DEFENSE

"There are thousands of women in Massachusetts who have the time, energy and intelligence to carry on the defense preparation work while their husbands are engaged in their normal professions," Miss Hammond observed.

"The woman will form the line active service."

of home defense for the men in

While the school is open to all patriotic women, organizers called especially for women who when graduated, will be able to take up posts as instructors in their respective communities.

J. W. Farley, another speaker at the meeting, warned of the perils of unpreparedness that overtook countries abroad.

"We have only to look back over the last year to see what happens to people insufficiently prepared," he said.

TWO MOTHERS HEROINES IN 6-FAMILY HOUSE FIRE

Two young mothers and four boys played heroic roles today in a fire which swept a six-family house in George st., Roxbury, forcing a dozen persons to flee.

The other, Mrs. Walter Malebeouf, rescued her son, also William, 1½ years old, and from the top-floor suite the four boys guided their nearly blind mother to safety.

The aged woman was Mrs. Peter McGinley, and her rescuers were John, 20; Peter, 18; Thomas, 16, and Charles, 12.

Mrs. Gregorio's husband, Joseph, a WPA worker, led their older children, Janet, 7, and Joseph, 8, to the street. The boy had been in bed with mumps and Gregorio himself was asleep when the fire started.

Mrs. Gregorio explained that she was lighting a heater in the living room where the baby was asleep, when something went wrong.

"I started to the kitchen," she said, "and then I heard the roar. When I turned around the room was all afire. I screamed and grabbed the baby."

A passerby, William Allen Wilde of Longmeadow st., Roxbury, aided in helping those who escaped. A pet puppy, Spotty, tied in the Gregorio home, stayed through the fire till firemen took him out, gasping but alive.

Hoseman Joseph Kenney of Engine 12 received first aid for a cut hand he received from flying glass.

The house is a wooden tenement, and for a time the flames threatened the adjoining buildings in the thickly settled district.

NAZI SUB SINKS 2 SHIPS

BERLIN, March 7 (AP)—A German submarine sank two armed "enemy" merchantmen totaling 12,061 tons, the Nazi high command reported today.

In a world dark with gloom today, Mrs. Ruth Gregorio sees little hope . . . for all her family's possessions had been wiped away by fire which swept her Roxbury home. Only bright spot on her horizon is the fact that her children, including Baby Billy (with her), were saved. Her husband is a WPA worker.

Carol, Lupescu Plan to Live In Portugal

LISBON, Portugal, March 7 (AP)—Dr. Henrique Viana, spokesman for the Portuguese foreign office, said today the government has given former King Carol of Rumania and his red-haired companion, Magda Lupescu, permission to live in Portugal for some time.

Intimates of the abdicated monarch said Carol and Lupescu, who fled from Spain Monday, intended to live like "mere bourgeois on vacation in Portugal."

Earlier reports had said Carol and his companion intended to go to the United States.

OGUNQUIT, Me., March 7 (AP)—This seashore resort was menaced today by a general alarm fire which raged through the beach dance pavilion and casino and spread to several nearby cottages.

Fire companies from Kennebunk, Wells, Wells Beach, and oYrk were called.

An unofficial estimate set damage to the Casino at $40,000. Its owner, Walter Perkins of Ogunquit, is wintering in California.

The Casino fire was first discovered when second story windows were shattered by the heat. Soon the structure, a white wooden building, was a wall of flame. Showers of sparks floated over nearby cottages.

130,000 Refugees In U. S., Many in Hub

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—The national refugee service estimates there are approximately 130,000 European refugees in the United States and that about one-half of them are living in New York city, with most of the others scattered in Chicago, St. Louis, Washington, Boston and San Francisco.

Almost 100,000, it says, are Jews.

BAN ON TRADE OF FOOD FOR VOTES URGED

By ROBERT A. McGILL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 7 (INS)—The special Senate committee which investigated the 1940 elections today recommended that "all-inclusive" limittations be placed on political gifts and expenditures, urged enactment of a law to prohibit the Surplus Commodities Corporation from trading foods for votes, and warned that the New Deal's AAA can be used as a "powerful political machine unless curbed."

The committee, headed by Sen. Gillette (D.) of Iowa, sifted a wide range of complaints in Kansas, Missouri, Maryland, West Virginia, Nebraska, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Wisconsin, New Mexico, Delaware, Maine, Illinois, Kentucky, Alabama, Iowa and Wisconsin.

As a result of the investigations it recommended;

1—Removal of ambiguities and uncertainties as to statutory limits on campaign contributions and expenditures.

2—Consideration of all-inclusive limitations on the total amount that may be collected or expended iny any calendar year by political parties on behalf of candidates for President and vice-President.

3—Consideration of all-inclusive limitations on the total amount that may be contributed in any calendar year to the candidacy for any federal office.

4—Outlawing of false, libellous and scurrilous campaign literature.

5—" To make unlawful any pernicious political activities by county, township committeemen, or agricultural conservation associations."

6—To prohibit coercion of employes of private corporations in voting.

7—To prohibit campaign contributions by private utilities or any corporation regulated whole or in part by the government.

8—Strengthening of the corrupt practices act to prevent campaign gifts by national banks, either directly or indirectly.

10—Legisaltion to prohibit distribution of surplus commodities or other necessities of life, cash, or other benefits by any federal relief or local administrative agency for the purpose of influencing the nomination or election of any federal official.

50,000 More Due For Wage Boosts

Some 50,000 more New England workers will benefit soon by wage increases, Joseph A. Salerno, State director of CIO, said today.

With some 28,000 workers of the American Woolen Co., already assured of a 10 per cent wage increase, Salerno said other New England companies are expected to fall in line.

Throughout the nation, he said, about 160,000 workers will be affected by the negotiations which the union now is carrying on, he stated.

Wage boosts of from $1.50 to $4 weekly for the 28,000 employes of American Woolen Co., were announced with the signing of a two-year contract between the company and the CIO Textile Workers' Union.

It is effective May 12. Preliminary estimates place the total pay increases between $75,000 and $100,000 weekly.

The contracts provide a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour in the mills regardless of the skill of workers.

More than 15,000 of those affected by the pay boosts are employed in the Wood, Ayer, Shawsheen, Arlington Mills and Pacific Mills.

Others affected by the agreement are employed in the Puritan Mills at Plymouth, Assabet Mills in Maynard, Norwich Mills at Norwich, Ct.; Sawyer Mills, Dover, N. H., and the Anderson Mills at Skowhegan, Me.

The agreements run for two years and provide for arbitration of grievances.

The contracts, subject to ratification by the workers, were signed after weeks of negotiation between union committees headed by Salerno and Emil Rieve, president of the TWUA, and counsel Isadore Katz, with President Moses Pendleton, and Divisional Managers T. Wendell Prestwich and Andrew B. Walls, Jr., acting for the company.

Frank Tinney Estate Value Set at $650

OAKLAND, Cal., March 7 (AP)—Frank Tinney, who at the height of his career as a blackface comedian earned up to $2500 a week, left an estate of $650. He died in a veterans' hospital at Northport, Long Island, last November, at the age of 62.

1300 ACCEPT PAY SLASH ON VERMONT ROAD

RUTLAND, Vt., March 7—Agreement of 1300 employes of the Rutland railroad to accept a 5 per cent wage reduction for all earning more than $15 averted a threatened strike, members of President Roosevelt's mediation board agreed today.

Mediation was decided upon when the line, which carries troops and defense products, faced a strike over the road's plan to cut wages 10 to 30 per cent.

It was also agreed that payment of back wages totalling $235,886 could be postponed until April 1, 1943, when the present agreement just reached expires.

President Roosevelt was informed in a wire from the mediation board that "this result has been achieved through agreement of the parties involved upon a constructive solution of the differences involved by the voluntary co-operation not only of the parties directly concerned but of other major interests equally determined to assure the continuance and support of the essential services of the Rutland railroad."

Parrot's Screams of Fire Real, Her Mistress Finds

MINNEAPOLIS, March 7 (AP)—The next time the parrot of Mrs. Sigbert Awes begins squawking its head off, no doubt more attention will be paid than was the case last time.

The most thrilling picture, a fire sweeping through a gasoline station, was saved for the last, so when it showed up and Polly began screaming "Fire, Fire, Fire," all had a good laugh, until—

Mrs. Awes turned on the lights and saw smoke issuing from under the kitchen door. Mrs. Borglum rushed through heavy smoke to carry her young daughter to safety as the others fled and the fire department extinguished the flames with an estimated $1000 loss.

Polly was rescued, too, still bellering "Fire, Fire, Fire" for all she was worth and doing no fooling about it, either.

I. J. Fox Holds Fashion Show

New spring suits, coats, furs and dresses were displayed by a bevy of mannequins at a special fashion show today in the I. J. Fox company's Washington st. store.

The showing, with detailed descriptions of the creations, was broadcast, with music by the Fox Fur Trappers Orchestra, under direction of Rakov.

Patti Pickens, of the Pickens sisters, and Fritzi Scheff, noted light opera star of yesteryear, were among the guests of honor.

$10,000 TO GREEKS

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—The American Red Cross today granted $10,000 to the Greek Red Cross for relief of victims of the recent earthquake at Larissa.

JIM ROOSEVELT WON'T SAY HE'LL RE-WED

LOS ANGELES, March 7 (AP)—A divorce granted Betsy Cushing Roosevelt from James Roosevelt, son of the President, becomes final tomorrow, but Roosevelt is reticent as to reports he may re-wed.

Roosevelt, now a captain of the Marines at San Diego, has been seen occasionally with Romelle Schneider, the nurse who attended him after a major operation at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., in 1939.

Asked by telephone concerning reports he and Miss Schneider planned to be married March 18, Roosevelt said, good-naturedly:

"It's news to me. I have nothing td sayo about Miss Schneider."

Phyllis Schneider, asserting that her sister was out of the city, said concerning the purported wedding plans:

"That is something my sister and Mr. Roosevelt must talk about personally."

$40,000 Bail For 2 Named As Bandits

Two of 35 holdup victims viewing a lineup today at Boston police headquarters identified two men, alleged participants in a police chase in which 20 shots were exchanged, following a $135 Medford holdup.

Picked from the lineup were Paul Ryan, 28, of Shawmut ave., South End, and John Reilly, 22, of Magnolia st., Dorchester, declared by authorities to be Concord Reformatory parolees.

An hour later both men were arraigned in Malden court and held in $20000 each for hearing March 14 on two counts of armed robbery.

These involved a $150 holdup in Davoli Bros', liquor store, Main st., South Medford, and a $135 robbery in the package store of Theodore Hurwitz in Haines sq., Medford.

TELLS OF HOLDUP

At the lineup, Hurwitz picked out Ryan and Reilly as two fo three armed men who entered his store. Hurwitz said it was Reilly who forced him into the back room and told him to empty his pockets.

The proprietor produced $20.22, he said, but Reilly threw the change on the floor, saying:

"I don't want that stuff."

Meanwhile, declared Hurwitz, Ryan was robbing Mrs. Hurwitz, his mother, and a customer, Murray Waller, of $16, while the third bandit was cleaning out the cash register.

When Walter Howell of Thorndike st., Bookline, also a store proprietor, looked over the lineup, he hesitated over Ryan and said:

"I'm not 100 per cent sure."

"Well, am I the guy or not? Never mind the partial stuff."

"Now, that I've heard your voice, I'm more sure than ever," replied Howell pleasantly.

Ryan was ordered to take off his coat, as the bandit in Howell's store had taken off his coat, too. When Ryan had done so, Howell said:

Suspend Captain Of Manhattan

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—An "unexplainable lapse" by the ship's captain and contributory fault of the first officer were blamed by the marine inspection bureau in a formal report on the grounding of the big liner Manhattan near Lake Worth, Fla., Jan. 12.

Commander R. S. Field of the bureau yesterday ordered an eight-month suspension of Capt. George V. Richardson and a one-month suspension for First Officer Joseph H. Burger.

The grounding and its subsequent $1,200,000 damage could have been averted, Field said, by a change of course. He reported that at the time, however, the captain was away from the bridge and that Burger, then on watch, failed to warn the captain of the danger.

Elopement Fails, Girl to Try Again

They eloped to Brattleboro, Vt., yesterday, but the only judge who could grant a waiver was out, so they came back to Newton and are going to elope to Brattleboro again next Thursday.

That's the bride-to-be's story, as told today by Miss Florence Elizabeth Ann Dulong, 19, of Varick rd., Newton, ruminating over the three-hour ride up and three hours back she had with George Arthur Morrison, 23, a salesman, who lives in Taylor st., Waltham.

"Yes, it was an elopement," admitted Miss Dulong when advised that the Brattleboro marriage license office today had recorded her and Morrison as having taken out intentions.

Miss Dulong explained that she and Morrison planned to be married and made the trip to Brattleboro expecting to get a waiver.

They arrived at the marriage license office after the closing hour of 5 o'clock, but obliging clerks made out the marriage intentions.

Their spirits fell when they found that Judge James E. Shea of the municipal court was away from his office and the only other justice who had the power to grant a waiver was in California.

"So we came home," said Miss Dulong.

"But we're going to be married there."

"There?"

"Yes, we're going up again next Thursday."

"Eloping?"

"Yes, I guess you'd call it that. Besides, we have to use the license up there."

Miss Dulong, a native of Middleboro, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Dulong, said her parents and Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison, the parents of her fiance, did not know of the matrimonial plans—"not yet."

"I guess they'll be surprised—but they were expecting it."

Amos Lodge Plans 2d Town Meeting

NAGGING WINS DIVORCE FOR SOCIALITE

"UNBEARABLE TEMPER"

"He drew back his hand and threatened to strike me," she said. His hand, however, like the glass of water, didn't connect.

"Mr. Wheelwright had another habit, of going away for one, two or three days, without any notice. And when he returned, he made no explanation," Mrs. Wheelwright continued.

"His temper was almost unbearable and he would go into tantrums about small expenditures. He used to rail at me and say:

HIS IDEA OF BEING FUNNY

"One such occasion was in the fall when I bought a pumpkin for the children and was going to carve it into a Jack o' Lantern. My husband worked himself into a temper over that and called it 'an unnecessary expense.'"

Mrs. Wheelwright cited an instance of what her spouse thought was being funny.

"It was after Peter was born —about two weeks—and I was just home from the hospital," she said.

"I came downstairs to meet a guest, but the guest launched off into some sort of a religious discussion and I didn't feel like listening to more of that.

ROW OVER VACATION

"Mr. Wheelwright appreciated that I wasn't feeling well and couldn't stand an argumentative evening, but he just urged the guest on and on to annoy me."

The last straw was the proposed "vacation" business, the young socialiate told Judge Mahoney.

"After he told me didn't see why I needed teh vacation," she added, "we talked about it on the way home to Framingham by automobile.

"He stopped the car at one point and I got out. I told him I wouldn't go back until we had come to a decision. He finally persuaded me to continue, promising to talk over the vacation with his mother.

DOCTOR TESTIFIES

"We talked it over, all right, but there was no decision about the vacation. We finally separated on Jan. 3rd of 1940."

Dr. Wheeler testified that he had made many visits to Mrs. Wheelwright when she was in poor health and told the court she was nervous and had lost weight.

"Her troubles had no medical cause," he said. "I found Mr. Wheelwright unco-operative, although he did admit to me he lost his temper frequently and had hurled the glass of water at my patient."

It was after the doctor's testimony that Judge Mahoney decided he had heard enough to grant the divorce decree.

2,000,000 Bayonets Ready, Turks Claim

ISTANBUL, Turkey, March 7 (AP)—Inspired Turkish newspapers warned the nation strongly today against accepting German assurances and declared the spread of the war to the Balkans seemed inevitable.

These statements were made as it was announced that Turkish foreign policy would be outlined by Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu next Monday morning at a closed session of the People's Party—Turkey's only political party—in Ankara.

That afternoon the National Assembly will open its session to be devoted to both external and internal affairs.

PLANS HITLER REPLY

Premier Refik Saydam will address Parliament Wednesday and is expected to disclose then Turkey's reply to a message received from Adolf Hitler last Tuesday. It was believed the government also would indicate its attitude toward a threatened invasion of Greece by Germany.

"Against a handful of birdshot reassurances that the Axis has flung at us stands two million Turkish bayonets," the newspaper Demokrat Politika said today.

"If Germany comes this way she will get such an answer to these reassurances as she never got before."

The newspaper Vatan said:

"If Germany attacks the Balkans she will see the end to her terrorism and the new order will indeed be installed in the world, but it will be a new order depending on respect of liberty for all."

CRITICIZE RUSSIA

For the first time a Turkish newspaper criticized Russia's Balkan policy, and that came when Tasviri Efkar declared:

"The whole Balkan situation can be laid at Russia's door. If Russia had not taken Bessarabia, Rumania would not have been frightened and would not have allowed Germany to enter. Then we might have preserved the Balkan entente and the Balkans might have been defended."

The newspaper Ikdam commented:

"Assurances rain on us from all sides since the German invasion of Bulgaria. These are like lullabies which put babies to sleep, but fortunately Turkey is no baby. We know that it is countries to which assurances are given that are in danger."

Cop Finds Dead Woman in Auto

NEW YORK, March 7 (INS)—The bruised body of a gray-haired woman, found today in a policeman's parked automobile in the Yorkville section of Manhattan confronted police with another mystery crime.

Patrolman John J. O'Connor parked in front of his home in York ave., at 1:30 a. m. When he left at 9 a. m., to drive to his precinct, he found the body in the rear seat.

The woman was about 55 and the condition of her face and body indicated that she might have been hit and dragged by an automobile.

Gloucester Police Sergeant Dies

Sergt. Edmund P. J. Cronin, 65, of the Gloucester police department, died today at the Chelsea Soldiers' Hospital after a short illness.

Funeral services will be held Monday from his home at 71 Pleasant st., Gloucester, with a solemn high mass of requiem sung at St. Ann's Church at 10 a. m. Burial will be in the Oak Hill Cemetery.

Five daughters and three sons survive. They are Mrs. Catherine Reardon, Mrs. Geraldine Du Pont, the Misses Winifred, Elizabeth and Mary W. Cronin; Robert E., John J. and Farrell G. Cronin. All of Gloucester.

BIG STRIKES AVERTED BY MEDIATION

By Associated Press

Successful mediation efforts today had forestalled strikes in a number of industries important to defense.

Threats of imminent walkouts were lifted from the Consumers Power Co. which serves 2,000,000 customers in southern Michigan; from the Rutland Railroad, Vermont, and the Ingalls Iron Works, whose Birmingham, Ala., plants hold $100,000,000 in defense orders.

After Gov. Van Wagoner of Michigan announced he was prepared to use "the full power" of his office to see that service in 900 communities was not disrupted, AFL electrical workers and the Consumers company agreed to arbitrate. The union seeks wage increases and a preferential shop.

PEACE IN VERMONT

Arbitration may be needed, however. Chairman Thomas J. Donahue of the state labor mediation board announced negotiators had arrived at "a satisfactory agreement." Terms were withheld.

Conciliation of the Rutland Railroad dispute was effected by a mediation board named by President Roosevelt. The workers had been disturbed by scheduled pay cuts.

Settlement of a steel strike at Orange, Tex., which delayed work on naval destroyers was announced last night, although terms of the agreement between the Consolidated Steel Corp. and employes were withheld. The walkout of 247 men Saturday involved wages and working conditions.

ALUMINUM STRIKE VOTE

Meanwhile CIO employes at the Edgewater, N. J., plant of the Aluminum Co. of America balloted on whether to authorize a strike for wage adjustments.

If a majority of 2001 workers favor a strike, conferences with the company would be sought. A federal conciliator was on hand. The company turns out much material needed by airplane factories.

Four plants of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., in New Jersey and Pennsylvania were threatened with a one-day "work stoppage" if the firm makes no concessions to CIO union demands for a closed shop and wage increases. Gov. Edison of New Jersey is president of the company, on leave. The firm has more than $200,000 of defense contracts.

Representatives of 40,000 CIO employes in 22 Westinghouse electrical plants arranged to meet in Pittsburgh Sunday to determine steps for a national agreement and a 10-cent hourly wage increase.

Negotiations were at a standstill in the lengthy strike of the CIO Farm Equipment Workers' Organizing Committee against the International Harvester Co.

MAYFIELD, Ky., March 7 (AP)—When a civil suit in which Farland Robbins was an attorney was called in Graves Circuit Court, Robbins found four of his witnesses had not appeared.

Checking, he discovered one was in the Mayfield city jail, another was in Paducah jail, a third was serving a prison sentence in Missouri and the fourth was in army service.

8 Arrested in Italian Ship Dynamiting

SPLIT, Yugoslavia, March 7 (AP)—Eight persons were arrested here today, charged with being involved in a plot to dynamite German and Italian ships plying between Yugoslavia and Italy.

Explosives were said to have been found in the prisoners' homes.

Robbed Jail So He Could Pay Theft From Cop's Kin!

EXTRA YEAR LOOMS FOR GUARD IN ARMY

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—War Department officials said today the Army may ask Congress for authority to keep the National Guard in service for an additional six months or a year.

Whether the guardsmen are kept in uniform beyond the current year will depend, it was explained, on tenseness of the international situation.

Some 240,000 guard officers and men have been mobilized thus far. Should they be demobilized at the conclusion of a year's service, the Army might be faced with a "serious situation" because of a shortage of trained manpower to train the selective service recruits, it was explained.

NOW 500,000 REGULARS

Some difficulties would be offset, however, officials said, but expansion of the regular army, which has been increased steadily for the last two years to a present total of nearly 500,000 officers and men.

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, was said to feel a second year's service for the National Guard was advisable in the light of the present international outlook, and that a minimum of six months' extension was indispensable.

He has told Congressional and other conferees the decision would depend on the course of events.

The original general staff scheme to create adequate land forces from the Regulars, Guardsmen and Selectees has been upset, officials said by the delay in inducting the Selectees.

200,000 DRAFTED

Only 200,000 have been mobilized thus far, whereas original schedules provided that 400,000 should be in uniform by March 15.

Secretary Stimson has stressed, however, that 1,418,000 men are expected to be in service by the end of June regardless of camp and cantonment construction delays.

Without additional legislation or a formal congressional finding that a national emergency exists, guardsmen would have to be returned to civil life after one year service.

Jailed Official Shields Mother

That was the farewell of former Lt.-Gov. T. Frank Hayes to his 80-year-old mother, as he left to serve a 10 to 15-year term in State Prison, it was revealed today.

The former middle-aged playboy bachelor, who was devoted to his mother, cautioned a state trooper who arrested him at his home:

"Don't say anything to my mother. I'll be with you in a minute."

Then after getting his hat and coat, the man who had held the second highest Connecticut office entered the police car and was whisked away to become number 14,363.

SHAM INVASION OF BRITAIN PROVES CIVILIANS BIG DEFENSE PROBLEM

LONDON, March 7 (AP)—A mock invasion of England by British forces with staff officers impersonating the German general staff, has created a high governmental puzzle, informed sources asserted today.

War Secretary H. D. R. Margesson has given the official story to the House of Commons, saying both civil and military organizations came through "with the greatest credit."

Reliable sources said the puzzle was whether British officers who acted as Nazi commanders were exceptionally brilliant or whether the defenders were not so astute.

The sham invasion, Margesson said, lasted a week and featured landings by air and sea probably on a scale greater than Germany could launch. High sources said the repulsing forces coped with an attack more successful than any Hitler could devise.

"It was a pretty successful invasion," an informant said, "but the resisting forces reacted splendidly, all things considered."

The behavior of civilians was described as a disturbing factor. In one locality the conditions obtaining in France and Belgium during the German advance last year were said to have been virtually duplicated.

People clogged the roads and important intersections and interfered generally with the carefully mapped defense plans. The "invaders," taking advantage of this, accomplished some extraordinary military strokes.

The maneuvers, disclosing possible weaknesses in the defense structure, were said to have provided material valuable against the threat of a real invasion.

GAYDA SAYS ITALIANS SANK 111 BRITISH SHIPS

ROME, March 7 (AP)—Virginio Gayda, the Fascist editor, asserted today that British sea and air losses at the hands of Italy total 20 warships, 26 submarines, 58 freighters and seven tankers, all sunk, 805 planes shot down and 213 destroyed aground.

Gayda also said 87 British warships, three submarines and 41 freighters were damaged by Italian action, two tankers torpedoed and 99 planes probably downed in addition to the plane losses which he said were certain.

He publishel the figures to show as he put it, that Italy is doing her part in the Axis war by straining vital British tonnage at a time when every ship is needed in defense of the British Isles.

KEEPING BRITISH NAVY BUSY

Gayda said Italy was compelling Britain to hold one fleet in the Mediterranean consisting of seven battleships out of her total of 13, three aircraft carriers, 10 heavy cruisers, 70 smaller warships and 15 submarines.

In addition, he said, Italy is forcing the British to keep an important fleet of seven cruisers and more than 20 other craft in the Red sea and Indian ocean.

Italy's task, he continued, is to hold constant threats against the British lifeline and co-operate with the Germans in the Atlantic counterblockade and to "depauperate" British forces at home as much as possible.

Furthermore, Gayda declared, Italy has forced Greece to mass almost all her troops on the Albanian front leaving her frontier facing Bulgaria—where Hitler is massing a vast force—virtually unprotected. (The Greeks reported yesterday that they were moving big forces to Macedonia and Thrace in the area facing Bulgaria.)

5 British Ships Bombed, Rome Says

ROME, March 7 (AP)—Italian bombing planes attacked a strongly escorted British convoy in the eastern Mediterranean, hitting a cruiser, a destroyer and three merchant ships, the Italian high command announced today.

Italian planes also bombed a British airbase in North Africa, the daily war bulletin said, while German planes attacked marching columns and troop concentrations there.

"Twenty motor trucks were destroyed and many others seriously damaged," the communique said. "Barracks, tents and encampments also were bombed near Derna, where fires started.

Japs Seized 11,865 Drums of Gasoline

HONGKONG, March 7 (AP)—Japanese troops who landed along the Kwangtung coast have seized vast quantities of material, including gasoline, salt and rice, Japanese reports said today.

The Japanese said they had seized 11,865 drums of gasoline, 2120 drums of vegetable oil, 449 drums of wood oil, 1100 bags of cement, 9000 bags of manganese, 115 tons of steel, 3000 bags of salt and quantities of sugar, rice and cotton.

ENVOY LEAHY AT RITES

VICHY, France, March 7 (AP)—Chief of State Marshal Petain, Gen. Maxime Weygand and United States Ambassador Admiral William D. Leahy attended memorial services here today for former King Alfonso XIII of Spain, who died recently in Rome.

British to Expand Raids on Nazi Coast

LONDON, March 8 (AP)—Informed British said today Tuesday's harassing raid by British and Norwegian naval units on the German-held Lofoten islands off Norway's coast was just a "rehearsal" for bigger things to come.

The intimation was that swift sea raiders carrying strong landing parties, and capitalizing on the element of surprise, had begun a campaign of sabotaging Nazi-controlled military and industrial centers along the European coast.

The press was quick to point out that there were many other vulnerable ports along the 3000 miles of coastline now held by the Germans where British warships could land raiding parties.

YIELD PRISONERS

In addition to destruction of Nazi war materials and oil stocks, it was pointed out such raids should yield German prisoners for questioning, and should bolster the morale of the populations of the occupied territories.

A correspondent of Reuters, British news agency, who accompanied the raiders, disclosed that the British had found what appeared to be the groundwork for a naval air station on one island. Among the 215 Germans captured were 17 German air force men and two high-ranking naval officers.

MANY VOLUNTEER

"When the ships arrived off the island powerful loudspeakers broadcast messages to the local population telling them friends were at hand and suggesting that the crews would be willing to take on board any volunteers who would like to come to Britain to join Norwegian forces there.

"Hundreds of young men immediately lined up on shore. Since our forces were there for several hours, the young men were allowed to go to their homes to get their best clothes and pack all they wanted to bring away."

It was learned in London that in addition to the fish oil factory destroyed, a second important plant at Stansund, on the Island of Vestvaagoy, was put out of action.

Islanders Penalized For Aid to British

SVOLVAR, Norway (via Berlin), March 7 (AP)—Reichscommissioner Joseph Terboven has decreed that all property belonging to the families of Norwegians who voluntarily followed the British or aided them during the surprise raid on the Lofoten Islands Tuesday should be burned.

The decree was issued following Terboven's arrival here Tuesday night after the raid. Those remaining who helped the British while they were ashore were arrested. One Norwegian was shot the same night for recalcitrance.

The population of Oestvaagoy Island, on which Svolvar is situated, was fined 100,000 kroner and the municipality required to maintain the families of those who were taken to England as prisoners.

The krone is not quoted currently but before the Nazi occupation of Norway its normal value was about 25 cents.—Editor's Note.

Some Debts Just Aren't Worth the Cost to Collect

NEW YORK, March 7 (INS)—Meyer Angenbraum, 39, piloting his laundry truck on the East Side, spotted a customer who had owed him $3 for two years.

Hoping to attract his debtor, Angenbraum blew his horn but only succeeded in attracting the attention of a cop who haled him to a magistrate.

The fine: $2.

Elephant Stork Detours or Else Nancy's Fooling!

In case you've forgotten, too, Nancy was supposed to have a baby several weeks ago. All she's produced thus far, Bean reported today, were symptoms. She has the look of ann expectant mother, is drowsy, snores and twitches.

The director avowed if Nancy was just pretending she's expecting so as to thrive on her special diet "it's the dirtiest trick ever played on man by beast."

For 25 months now Nancy has been treated tenderly. There has been much sewing of not too tiny garments and an elephant size crib has been installed to await the big day. But Nancy just rolls her eyes and twitches.

Scientific smarties haven't been much help. Someone suggested an X-ray to determine Nancy's real condition as is done in cases of humans.

INDO-CHINA, THAI PEACE IS ASSURED

By ALFRED DOWNS
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, March 7 (INS)—Japanese proopsals for a final settlement of the territorial conflict between Thailand and French Indo-China today appeared on the verge of complete acceptance by both countries.

Final settlement of this dispute, informed circles believed, will remove another major obstacle in the path of Japan's ambition to establish a "new order in East Asia."

At the same time, there were reports that Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka may accompany German Ambassador Eugen Ott when the latter goes to Berlin to report on conditions in the Far East. Ott is scheduled to leave Tokyo shortly.

TO GO VIA MOSCOW

In addition there were rumors, totally unconfirmed, that Matsuoka and Ott will make the journey to Berlin via Moscow, which give them an opportunity for discussions with the highest Soviet authorities.

Both the Japanese foreign office and the German embassy adopted an extremely "cagey" attitude regarding these rumors, refusing to define them with either confirmation or denial.

Should Matsuoka go to Berlin, it was conjectured, one of the foremost topics discussed probably would be the attitude of Japan in the event the United States became involved in war with Germany.

Under terms of the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo military alliance, Japan would be obligated to make war on the United States should the latter intervene in the European conflict.—Editor's note.

DEADLINE TODAY

So far there has been no definite announcement of a final, binding peace between Thailand and French Indo-China, although today was the day originally set for expiration of the twice-extended truce between Thailand and Indo-China.

An official announcement at Hanoi, Indo-Chinese capital, said that the truce had been extended indefinitely did not find confirmation in Tokyo. Japanese authorities said a complete agreement is now so near that further extension of the truce is not necessary.

$2,000,000 of Fish To Be Soldier Fare

Fish men from New England and other parts of the nation met in Washington today to discuss the problem of providing Uncle Sam with $2,000,000 worth of fish yearly for peace-time soldiers.

Edward H. Cooley, manager of the Massachusetts Fisheries Association, said before he left here that soldiers will eat at least two fish meals weekly under the government program.

Priest's Candles Furnish Light to Hartford Police

HARTFORD, Ct., March 7 (AP)—Votive candles supplied by the Rev. Andrew J. Kelly of St. Anthony's Church furnished light for police headquarters for about an hour last evening after a cable burned out, leaving an east side section of this city without power.

Scores of restaurants, taverns, filling stations and other business establishments hurriedly pressed lanterns and candles into service.

Yugoslavia Leaning Toward Axis Avowal

Yugoslavia's possible adherence to the axis.

As a result of their visit and Prince Paul's, it was believed the anticipated Yugoslav statement would proclaim a deepening of this country's friendship with the Axis.

Diplomatic quarters expressed belief, however, Yugoslavia—under intense pressure to choose between the Axis and Britain—also would restate her strict neutrality and refrain from joining up with the Axis for the time being at least.

Prince Paul returned to Belgrade early yesterday and summoned all the nation's chief leaders to a conference which lasted throughout the day.

It was learned the government's expected neutrality statement would be accompanied by an explanation of the Regent's visit to Hitler.

Informed quarters said the Yugoslav ministers in London and Moscow also would explain their government's attitude to the British and Russian governments "in the light of the new situation" resulting from Bulgaria's occupation by Nazi troops.

No one seemed to know for sure just where Yugoslavia was heading.

Diplomatic quarters, however, said one thing was certain—that the nation wished to preserve its neutrality, but at the same time realized German pressure is much more powerful than Britain's efforts to keep the country neutral.

The same circles said Germany and Yugoslavia would make almost identical declarations, with Germany "assuring" Yugoslavia of her "peaceful aims" regarding this country.

REPORT FIGHT OFF STRAITS OF MAGELLAN

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 7 (INS)—A running sea battle between British warships and German commerce raiders was believed, today, to have been fought in the narrow confines of the Straits of Magellan, at the southernmost tip of South America, with the British warships apparently destroying an enemy raider.

Incomplete reports received by the Chilean minister of marine indicated that a naval battle was heard at Punta Arenas, the sounds dying down in volume as the vessels sped north eastward toward the Atlantic.

At the same time, a lighthouse keeper on Point Dungeness, at the straits' eastern entrance, reported hearing gunfire.

The lighthouse keeper also reported that a fisherman told him he observed a British warship making its way unhurriedly into the Atlantic at dawn, giving rise to the belief she had dispatched her Nazi rival and was proceednig to the British naval base in the Falkland Islands.

While only the one British warship was seen, it was believed that several vessels were engaged in the sea battle.

British Shoot Down Bomber

LONDON, March 7 (AP)—A Dornier bomber was reported shot down into the sea by machine-gun fire off the Norfolk coast today as German warplanes opened scattered daylight raiding on Britain.

Other daylight raiders were active in the vicinity of an east England town, having flown through rain and fog which restricted visibility over Dover strait.

London had a brief alarm shortly before noon, but the all clear was sounded without any bombs being reported.

There was little aerial activity over England during the night, although London had its 503d alarm of the war. It was the fifth alarm of the day, but lasted only a short while.

Greeks Wipe Out Italian Regiment

ATHENS, March 7 (INS)—The 53rd Regiment of Italy's Sforseca Division, which participated in operations northwest of Tepeleni on the Albanian front beginning Feb. 13, has been completely annihilated, Greek authorities declared today.

They said Fascist prisoners revealed all officers and men of the regiment had been killed, wounded or taken prisoner and that all its material had been captured by Hellenic warriors.

Another regiment of the same division suffered extremely heavy losses, according to the prisoners.

FOES IN SURPRISE MOVE

Faced with the threat of night sessions, the Senate met an hour earlier today—at 11 a. m.—and immediately the anti-intervention bloc, which is fighting the bill, upset Administration calculations by having Sen. Bennett Clark (D.) of Missouri withdraw his amendment to bar use of public funds for the dispatch of soldiers beyond the limits of the Western Hemisphere or U. S. possessions.

Clark's move automatically shoved O'Mahoney's proposal into the limelight.

Sen. Bone (D.) of Washington attacked the amendment, however, as an insufficient protection against involvement in war.

Under it, he said, the Navy could convoy ships carrying lease-lend goods halfway or more across the Atlantic, with the British convoying them the rest of the way. Bone warned that convoys "mean war."

"If we convoy these ships that means war. And get ready for war," he shouted.

Bone declared he was in favor of "giving Britain ships or $15,000,000,000 in cold cash," but he repeatedly warned against the use of convoys.

"If we attempt to go beyond this limit that's going to mean war, and get ready for it," he kept emphasizing.

Sen. Lucas (D.) of Illinois questioned effectiveness of the O'Mahoney amendment.

CAN CONVOY TO EAST

"If we adopt it don't we give the President the right to convoy British shipments right up to war zones?" he asked.

"That's my interpretation," replied Bone.

In an effort to meet Bone's objection, O'Mahoney offered to revise his amendment to restrict the Navy to convoying ships to ports outside the war zones.

Criticizing the O'Mahoney amendment, Sen. Wheeler (D.) of Montana said ships could be convoyed to Singapore even under the existing combat zone proclamation.

Confident that they can beat down drastic proposals, Administration leaders urged early votes and ordered night sessions until a final vote is reached on the bill.

The first and most vital test vote was slated on an amendment by Sen. Clark (D.) of Missouri, which prohibits use of public funds to send men beyond limits of the Western Hemisphere, U. S. possessions or areas where America has special treaty rights.

"I don't think it will be adopted," the Missourian said, "but the amendment will put a lot of fourflushers on the spot. They can't deny that my amendment is constitutional, and that is the excuse they've been offering to beat down other amendments saying we shan't send our men into this war."

Despite action of Senate leaders capitulating to sentiment for the Ellender amendment by agreeing to a compromise, the furious battle over both the question of sending men to Europe and using the navy to convoy ships continued unabated.

MODIFIED AMENDMENT

The Senate also had before it the modified amendment of Sen. Ellender (D.) of Louisiana, which says that nothing in the bill shall be construed to change existing law relating to use of land and naval forces, except insofar as the lease-lend bill authorizes repair of British ships and other similar aid.

"We expect to remain in session from 11 a. m. until 10 p. m. and not only dispose of these amendments but also others," said Majority Leader Barkley.

6 Axis Ships Seized, 5 Sunk Off Africa

LONDON, March 7 (AP)—The admiralty announced today that with the capture of the port of Chisimaio in Italian Somaliland, five Italian merchant ships, totaling 28,153 tons, were seized, four others were scuttled and a 7000-ton German vessel was captured, but later sank in tow.

The capture of Chisimaio and Mogadiscio in the Somaliland offensive, by co-ordinated British land and naval action, was said in an early Admiralty announcement to have eliminated the chief bases for Axis surface raiders in the Indian ocean.

"It can now be state that five Italian merchant ships with a total tonnage of 28,153 tons fell into our hands as a result of the capture of Port Chisimaio in Italian Somalililand," said the second admiralty communique.

"These ships are the Adria, 3809 tons; Savoia, 5490 tons; Erminia Mazzella, 5742 tons; Manon, 5597 tons, and Leonardo da Vinci, 7515 tons.

"Four other ships scuttled themselves in Chisimaio harbor. One of these is known to have been the Italian Margherg, 4531 tons. Losses also were inflicted on the German mercantile marine as a result of Chisimaio.

"The German Uckermark, 7021 tons, attempted to escape. She was intercepted by our forces and tried to scuttle herself. This attempt was frustrated but the Uckermark subsequently sank while in tow.

The earlier communique reviewed the naval and land co-ordination in the Somaland drive.

One outstanding naval action, the admiralty said, was bombardment of Mogadiscio by the cruiser Shropshire. In shelling the harbor the Shropshire sank the 6861-ton Italian tanker Pennsylvania and caused "a large number of military casualties."

Petain's Aide Back With Laval Report

VICHY, France, March 7 (AP)—Admiral Jean Darlan, vice-premier and foreign minister in the Vichy government, arrived by automobile today from Paris and conferred immediately with Chief of State Marshal Petain.

He was believed to have reported on recent conversations with Pierre Laval, De Brinon, the government's representative in Paris, and Otto Abetz, German ambassador to Paris.

New Aid For the Hard of Hearing

Otarion, a New Benefit for Those Whose Hearing Is Impaired

Denison B. Hull

When Denison B. Hull, a Chicago architect, lost his hearing, he tried numerous hearing aids recommended to him by doctors, but in each case the results were discouraging. Finally, Mr. Hull determined to study acoustics himself, and his efforts in that field led to the development of OTARION, a hearing aid which has been accepted by the American Medical Association, by the National and Boston Guild for the Hard of Hearing, and by the U. S. Veterans' Bureau.

The OTARION is a four tube, air conduction aid with a new range of sound and clearer tone. Improved clarity makes possible a reduction of volume to eliminate excess vibration. The vacuum tubes, which are designed and manufactured by the company, are the smallest tubes made. OTARION instrument is very small, neat and easily concealed in the clothes.

Many people who are hard of hearing can conceal the fact until they speak. Then—the voice tells the story. It seems to adjust itself to the limited hearing range of the individual. It is not simply a matter of slurring or intelligibility. The sound of the voice changes as certain tones are omitted. The individual seldom realizes that this change is taking place.

Scientific tests and the reports of users show that OTARION gives better tone over a wider range than any other aid now in use. OTARION costs less to own, and, as battery drain is less than in other vacuum tube instrument, it costs less to operate. Despite its economy, the manufacturer invites a comparison of its efficiency with any other aid.

At OTARION'S Hearing Aid Center, 120 TREMONT ST., Suite 326, consultants with many years of experience are prepared to serve you either in the consulting rooms or in your home. If they accept your problem, they guarantee that you will hear easily and more naturally.

Before buying any hearing aid, TRY an OTARION. Write for the interesting story of OTARION or either call or phone: HANcock 4079 for free demonstration.

WORKING ON $89,400,000 ORDER

Diesel Engines for Navy and Defense Units in the Making

Production Plus—Recently enlarged, the Cleveland Diesel engine division plant of General Motors hums with activity . . . and (above) machinists work on $89,400,000 orders the plant must turn out for the U. S. Navy and other defense units. Engines being made here are for marine use

The Sun's Out—The roving Boston Evening American photographer saunters with the sun to Boston's Public Gardens (above) and Common (below) to find a group of mothers and their youngsters enjoying some of New England's before-spring weather. Elizabeth Leddy of Cambridge is the miss below . . . feeding the pigeons.

Novel—Marie Mahoney of Roxbury proves she's a clever miss by making necklaces and bracelets of noodles . . . and in three pictures, shows you how it's done. Here, working on a necklace, Marie applies red fingernail polish.

Noodle-Necklaces Becoming

She put the noodles on a wire after having cooked them in the soup . . . and felt called a necklace that may become the rage.

Miss Marie Mahoney, 16, of Greenville st., Roxbury, happened to notice that the noodles she had bought for supper were shaped like the rare shells that make up necklaces, bringing a warning to the pocketbook.

Now the photographer Miss Mahoney, who is regularly employed as a stenographer at Commonwealth pier, has made noodle necklaces of her own.

After she has strung them she paints them with fingernail polish . . . in Marie's case red and has enough left from five cents worth of noodles to make a matching bracelet.

Marie has become so fond of her "hot by" that she plans to make more in various shades, and wear them with her spring clothes.

After Being Strung, Noodles Are Polished . . .

. . . And Marie Has a Charming Red Necklace

Assembling

For Navy

EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, MARCH 7, 1941

THE SERIES of pertinent questions recently posed by Senator David I. Walsh in the Congressional debate on the Lend-Lease Bill affords ample proof that it is not a filibuster, but a searching examinaiton of facts, that is being conducted by opponents of the measure.

SENATOR WALSH
Wants Truth Told

Senator Walsh inquired why, if it were not the intention to involve the United States in war, the amendment prohibiting the use of American armed forces in the conflict was opposed so strongly by Administration backers.

He inquired why, if the supporters of the measure did not expect President Roosevelt to exercise the war-making powers admittedly in the bill, the effort to reserve such powers to the Congress of the United States was resisted.

He inquired why the only limitations on the measure that had been accepted by the Administration were those requiring consultation with military and naval advisers, with no obligation upon the President to follow their advice.

He inquired why the only authority retained by Congress under the bill, as so far amended, was that requiring reports by the President to the Congress every ninety days, but leaving it entirely within the discretion of the President to disclose what he pleases and not to disclose what he thinks should be withheld.

Would it not be exceedingly useful to the American people to have ANSWERS to these important questions before the debate is ended?

WHY IS IT NECESSARY in the interest of aiding Great Britain that the President should have the new and extreme powers the Lend-Lease Bill confers? Is he not already giving almost unlimited aid to Great Britain under his existing authority, or in spite of the lack of such authority?

Did he not within the last few days cause blanket authority to be issued for the export to Great Britain of 138 key war products, including many in which our own national defense is deficient, such as aluminum, aircraft parts, and machine tools?

Did he not contrive under his existing powers, or despite the lack of them, to make available to Great Britain 1934 American airplanes, with other foreign nations getting 374 of our total 1940 production of 2884 airplanes?

Did he not succesfully deliver fifty American destroyers to Great Britain under his existing powers, or despite the lack of them, in exchange for the right to establish American naval and air bases in certain British possessions—a right conditioned by the obligation, accepted by the United States, to pay millions of dollars to the private owners of the land involved?

WHAT FURTHER POWERS can the President possibly need in order to aid Great Britain effectively?

What further power REMAINS except that of actually putting the United States actively into the war?

How can it be said that the prolonged debate in the Senate on the Lend-Lease Bill is delaying or in any manner interfering with aid to Britain—unless of course it is ARMED AID which is wanted? Advocates of the Lend-Lease Bill are saying the long Senate debate is not only wasting time but is becoming wearisome. Wearisome to whom? Certainly not to the American people, who are finding it increasingly and remarkably instructive and informative.

The debate is pursuing a very useful course, and perhaps if it pursues a useful course long enough it will have the ultimate and happy conclusion of keeping the United States out of war and of preventing an Executive dictatorship in the United States.

A YOUNG MOTHER has sent us an interesting letter. She liked our recent editorial about the dressing-up and streamlining of girl babies' names. She says:

"I think American mothers should show more ingenuity.

"Why do we have to be such copy-cats? There must be a million Marys and a hundred thousand Alices in the United States. The Johns and the Georges probably number two million.

"Personally, I prefer using last names as first names, like Hayden Jones, Brandon Smith and Carlton Grant."

We are not going to express an opinion until we hear from other mothers.

So write us, mothers. We want to know what you think.

On The Side

FOUR MILLION married women work in the United States. There is much complaining about this on part of some people. I am in favor of it. I think it puts more spending customers in the market and makes business better for everybody . . . "I'll Never Smile Again" would also be a good title for a story about a young widow . . . I still think "Daddy Wouldn't Buy Me a Bow-Wow" would be a good song for Bonnie Baker or Mary Martin. Especially Mary Martin . . . Just read of a 13-year-old lad who is a college freshman. At 13 I was just getting out of grammar school. How about you, Mister? Well, at any rate, I played first base for a high school team when 14 years old, so I guess I was a genius in a small way.

ASIDES: Another thing this country needs is a one dollar mutuel ticket, and also a three dollar across the board mutuel ticket . . . A Chicagoan writes: "Please call attention to your feminine clients that Mary Pickford once rightly said the male of any species is much better looking than the female" . . . According to the Koran, charging interest on money lent to a friend is a sin. So some Mohammedan merchants are lending Great Britain money for war purposes with the understanding no interest will be charged . . . The last name in the Seattle city directory is Kirwin Zyzzo, Working for the Seattle city government is a claim adjustor named Ten Million . . . A Palindrome (sentence reading same both ways) remembered by a Pittsburgher is: "Raw was I ere I saw war" . . . Baltimore woman says she secretly learned to play the guitar and that her husband was so proud and pleased after the first time he heard her play he told the children: "Your mother is a very remarkable woman." The guitar is nice, but I still think it would be a bigger surprise for a husband if his wife learned to play a banjo.

OUTWORN TRICKS: Women had some excellent ideas on how to get, hold, impress, make fools of men, etc. But they couldn't keep them a secret. Feminine writers have broadcast these ideas far and wide. Now most men know all the feminine tricks and have prepared a defense for the same. But most women are still trying to get somewhere with these ancient outworn feminine methods. The smarter girls, however, seem to have realized that nowadays the only thing to do is to be sincere and hope for the best.

-:- MY DAY

WASHINGTON, Thursday—The young people who came here yesterday afternoon from the Lawrenceville, N. J., School, were most interested in what they saw. They spent the morning visiting the Supreme Court, the Senate and the House.

One of the boys is going to come down for the summer to work in a New Jersey congressman's office. I suggested mildly that I did not consider Washington a perfect summer resort, but that did not dampen his ardor in the least.

A few friends came to dinner last night. This morning I was glad to awaken to a beautiful day, for we are off by plane to Miami, Florida, where we are going to spend a very peaceful week, I hope.

I HAVE a letter from an English woman which I am quoting here in part:

"As an English woman, may I say how much I appreciate the great kindness and generosity shown by the people of the U. S. A. in our war effort. It is an inspiration to know that we have such friends . . . we will stand the blood and tears if your great country will share the sweat. My son, who is a 'Worcester' Cadet, goes to sea in May (he will still be not quite 17).

"My husband is an enthusiastic member of the home guard. Our two countries seem to be agreed on one great point—that the leader of this world is not named Hitler and that his book is not called—'Mein Kampf.' There is tremendous hope and faith in that for the future."

This is one of the many which have come to me expressing gratitude for the help which American citizens have sent them. I think there has been very generous giving on the part of our people to all the various charities which have undertaken to do a variety of work for the sufferers in Europe.

I WISH, however, we could succeed in doing for every group what is now being attempted in the Chinese charities. There they are co-ordinating and raising their funds jointly. I imagine the central body representing all the different interests will decide, as the money comes in, where it should be allocated according to the needs.

This is a plan which I should like to see followed by all other groups, particularly in the case of those doing work for Great Britain. From the point of view of shipping, it is so important that no space should be taken up by anything which is not really needed in Great Britain at the present time.

The money which is available should be spent on the things which are going to be of the greatest help at the moment. These needs change, and a central group, constantly in touch with the people in England, as well as the agencies here, would be in a better position to decide than any one individual charity.

It means, of course, a sinking of individual preferences and personalities in the interest of doing what is most needed at a particular moment. This is difficult to do, but I hope we can achieve it.

NEW MOVIE DEAL FOR ED WYNN

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, March 7—Cornelius J. Tiers, the socialite who returned from France two weeks ago after serving in the Foreign Legion, will volunteer for the Army here . . . The movie version of "Tobacco Road" has helped increase the business at the Forrest Theater where the play is still running. There were standees twice last week . . . A new commercial plane has been christened "The Kay Kyser" . . . When W. Averell Harriman leaves for his London post this week his baggage will consist of one extra suit, some vitamin pills and woolies . . . A movie deal is being set for Ed Wynn.

DELAY: Teddy Powell, the songwriter-bandleader was told by one of his men that he was being drafted into the Army. Powell felt it necessary to intercede. He took his doctor with him and drove to New Jersey to appear before the draft board . . . His doctor first declared that Powell was ill and left his bed against his orders—but the matter was so urgent the band leader had insisted upon going . . . Powell then told the draft board that his musician was a most valuable member of the orchestra and made all his music arrangements. "We're signed to start on this new job next week," Powell pleaded, "and if he goes into the Army we'll lose the job. All I ask is a deferment for a few months . . . The draft board convened in private, then placed the facts in affidavit form and asked Powell to attest it. The band leader raised his right hand to swear . . . "Just a minute," his suddenly flattered musician interrupted. "This new job is going to be a tough one. Either I get more dough—or I don't take the deferment."

LADY ASHLEY

PREVIEW: In a private projection room at Radio City Music Hall Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt made mention of the fact that yesterday was the anniversary of her son's inaugural as President. "I remembered the anniversary," she confided. "I wrote him a letter" . . . The President's mother then was introduced to Oscar and June Levant, parents of a new daughter. "Now that I see Mrs. Roosevelt," Oscar sighed to his wife, "for the first time I realize it's not bad to have a son."

• • •

DEFEAT: Lady Ashley, widow of Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., returned from Hollywood this week She had submitted to a screen test for George Cukor, but decided to forego a film career . . . Joan Crawford had appeared with Lady Ashley in that screen test—one of the most unusual tests ever given in the movie colony. The film novice had not been told what lines she'd have to recite. She and Miss Crawford simply were placed in front of a camera. She heard: "Camera!" then "Action!"—and Miss Crawford started to beat her. That was the test . . "Let's try it again," Cukor directed—and so again Joan Crawford started hitting Lady Ashley—but this time harder . . . "Thank you very much," said Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. "I don't want to be an actress."

ESCAPE: Baron Franz von Werra, the Nazi aviator who escaped from Canada by crossing the border, has been trying to sell his story to all the magazines—with no takers. His story is an amazing one. His plane was shot down while he was flying over England. His English is perfect, and so—posing as an RAF pilot—he hitched a ride to the nearest airport, walked to a plane, and ordered a mechanic to prepare it for flight. Then the alarm sounded in time to capture him . . . He was taken to Canada. There, after his escape, he found his way to an airport and hid in the bushes waiting for a pilot to leave a plane unguarded with engine running. It was while he was waiting in the bushes—a long wait in vain—that his ears were frozen.

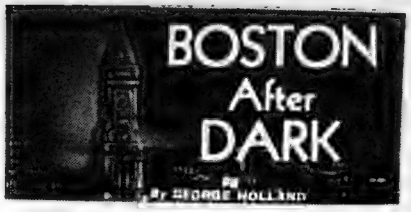
COURTESY: It is reported that whenever Nazi officers came to Fouquet's to dine every Frenchman in the Paris restaurant immediately walked out. One of the officers finally complained to the proprietor: "Your customers are being very impolite. After all, you French have a tradition of politeness. Common courtesy requires that they should wait at least 15 minutes before they leave" . . . The next day, when the Nazis arrived at Fouquet's, every Frenchman immediately placed his watch on the table, toiled each minute for 15 minutes—and then walked out.



EXCLUSIVE: A Boston branch of Alcoholics Anonymous, a nationwide club to fight alcoholism, is already in existence . . . Members meet Wednesdays at 8:00 p. m. at 115 Newbury st. . . . and . . . "And a drinker who wants to get well is more than welcome."

A WIDELY-KNOWN fiction writer, a resident of the Boston area, who, for several reasons, must remain unidentified, gives us the news . . . We can say that his purpose in passing along the item about Alcoholics Anonymous is entirely unselfish, and that, like the movement, or crusade, which he describes, there is no commercial "angle" in his frank attempt to cadge some space . . . Alcoholics Anonymous is getting national attention, right now.

THERE IS NO LOBBY directed against the crusade to remove the blight of alcoholism from the body politic . . . Our friends, the Boston nightclub owners, and the wholesale and retail liquor dealers, would be delighted to join hands in any movement which would lessen the curse of addiction to drink.

THE SPECIMEN, known as "lush" is in bad favor even with the men who sell him his potions . . . As for social drinking indulgence with moderation as a feature of living gracefully—that is something else again, these gentlemen will exclaim.

TREMENDOUS STIMULUS was given Alcoholics Anonymous by an article under date of March 1 in a national magazine . . . Jack Alexander wrote the story, and it's an absorbing review of what has happened through the efforts of a generous, selfless crowd of former alcoholics in "curing" victims of dipsomania.

AS MR. ALEXANDER PUTS IT—"Only an alcoholic can squat on another alcoholic's chest for hours with the proper combination of discipline and sympathy."

WHAT IS AN ALCOHOLIC? . . . Our correspondent, the fiction-writer, gives Dick Peabody's definition: "An alcoholic is a person to whom a good night's sleep represents a long period of abstinence" . . . He gives also the simpler, and perhaps truer one: "Any man or woman who drinks to escape reality" . . . But hark to our friend as he talks about Alcoholics Anonymous:

"ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS is the antithesis of the famous lines written by Jameson:

> " 'Here is a love that exceeds all loves
> Exceeding even the love of a mother;
> The infinite tender and passionate love
> Of one drunken bum for another.'

"THE A. A.'S LOVE ONE ANOTHER—sure; but from there on the shining sole purpose of the association is to help one another and themselves stay dry" . . . So perhaps the crusade isn't as unselfish as we described it . . . The boys who have "cured" themselves are helped in sustaining their high resolve by aiding uncured victims of the Curse.

ANY "ESCAPE ARTISTS" in Boston who are imbued with the desire to help themselves, may make contact with the local organization at the address given above . . . The alcoholic will find companions "who've been through worse wringers than he has; who are infinitely tolerant, sympathetic and kind."

JO ANDREWS

She Clicked in a Tough Spot

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Speaking of fiction-writers, young Ray Hilligoss of Commonwealth ave. has made the "slick paper magazines" with a story "I Saw You Singing," in this week's Liberty . . . Following Harriet Hoctor wasn't the easiest spot in show-business, but pretty young Jo Andrews—she is one of the Axelrod family of Brookline—clicked from the go-off at The Mayfair.

JOEL McCREA PUTS UP BANKROLL

By Louella O. Parsons

Joel McCrea

HOLLYWOOD, March 7—Those Scotch jokes don't mean a thing where Joel McCrea is concerned when he's really sold on a story—because Joel is putting up half the bankroll, along with Rowland Brown to back "Thieves Like Us." This original by Edward Anderson sounds like a pip because there isn't a single role in the yarn that Joel could play himself. Instead, Thomas Mitchell will be starred and Joel's pretty wife, Frances Dee, will have the femme lead and Anthony Quinn is also in the lineup

So far the boys aren't announcing their releasing company but McCrea insists he isn't going to be merely a backer. He'll take time off from his own movies to help guide his production. Well, Joel isn't the only actor to play angel to outside movies. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., put some of his own money in "Angels Over Broadway" and Errol Flynn has backed several shorts.

WHEN DAVID SELZNICK accepted the Oscar for "Rebecca" at the Academy dinner last week, there was a general belief he was retiring from the motion picture business He said "Gone With the Wind" and "Rebecca" ended the Selznick International Company

What he meant was that he and Jock Whitney have parted company and that he is forming a new company with a nucleus of two plays—"Claudia," a Broadway play which he has bought from John Golden for $187,000, and "Jane Eyre." I was interested to hear that David is negotiating with Dorothy McGuire, the star of "Claudia," to come to Hollywood and play the role she created on the stage. It would be her first movie and perhaps start her on the way to film stardom—who knows?

THE MANY STARS Frank Capra has helped to make famous will present him with a plaque at the premiere of "Meet John Doe"—and let me say that no Academy award Oscar was ever tendered with more genuine appreciation.

The Capra "alumni" on hand for this pleasant event, include Claudette Colbert and Clark Gable, Gary Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck, Jean Arthur, Lionel Barrymore, Ronald Colman, Warner Baxter and dozens of lesser lights—all of whom have been helped no greatly by appearing in Capra pictures.

I have an interview with Frank coming up Sunday and one of the things he told me that warmed my heart is that we're all going to be surprised by the fine performance Jimmy Gleason turns in. I'm so glad for Jimmy is a swell actor and he has a break coming.

U.S. Destroyer Swap For Battleship Seen

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 7—A number of American warships, including destroyers and torpedo boats, will be turned over to Great Britain after the lease-lend bill is passed, it was learned today.

Details of the transfer have not been completed but there is a possibility that the American warships may be "exchanged" for a British battleship or two.

The Navy Department has moved to obtain congressional authorization for such a "swap" if President Roosevelt should wish to make it.

Legislation has been introduced in the House authorizing the Navy to replace old naval ships with whatever type of combat vessel the President considers essential for American defense purposes.

Under existing law, the Navy can only replace battleships with battleships or destroyers with destroyers.

If the new authorization is granted, the Navy will have the power to replace destroyers with an equal amount of tonnage of any other category of warships. Thus, the Navy could "exchange" about 20 1500-ton destroyers for a 30,000-ton British battleship of the Barham class.

It is possible that the destroyer-type vessels turned over to the British may be classified as auxiliary ships rather than destroyers, and they may include mine-layers and fleet tugs.

Under the lease-lend bill, President Roosevelt will have the power "to sell, transfer, exchange, lease, lend or otherwise dispose" of warships or any other American defense article to the British.

Great Britain already has made known to this government its pressing need for additional destroyers and there is reason to believe the British will make an urgent appeal for these vessels once the lease-lend bill is passed.

DEFENSE MERGER SEEN

The question of asking the British to "exchange" a battleship or two for American destroyers will, it was indicated, depend upon the situation in the Far East. If that situation deteriorates and the Navy Department considers it advisable to strengthen the American fleet in the Pacific, President Roosevelt might ask for the "loan" of a couple of British battleships, informed quarters said.

In "exchange" for the battleships, the President might offer the British the "loan" of an equivalent tonnage of destroyers or "auxiliary" vessels.

British naval needs at present call for destroyers and light craft to ward off German submarine attacks on British shipping around the British Isles. On the other hand, American naval experts are concerned about the new Japanese battleships and super-cruisers that are known to be nearing completion.

The idea of "exchanging" warships with Britain is in line with the Administration trend toward a virtual merging of Anglo-American defense facilities.

These Firemen's Faces Redder Than Fire Itself

CHICAGO, March 7 (INS)—The bright red sides of Chicago's firewagons were no redder today than the cheeks of some of the city's firemen.

More than 20 firemen from three companies were battling last night to extinguish six burning box cars in the yards of the Northwestern railroad when Arthur H. Ankersen, fire marshal for the railroad, stopped them.

"Don't put out the fire, boys," he said. "These box cars are old and we're burning them on purpose."

U. S. May Turn Over Tankers to Britain

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Rear Admiral Royal E. Ingersoll, assistant chief of naval operations, told Congress today part of a requested 200,000 tons of naval auxiliaries, such as tankers, might figure in the British aid program.

Ingersoll made his statement to the House naval committee in response to questions by Chairman Vinson (D.) of Georgia but repeatedly emphasized no specific allocation of the proposed auxiliaries had yet been made.

"If by any possible chance we were directed to turn over all our tankers to some foreign nation," he said, at one point, "we would have to get more tankers from the maritime commission."

LIEUT. McGONIGLE RITES TOMORROW

Funeral services for Lieut. Michael J. McGonigle, 55, for 28 years a Boston fireman, will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. from the Crosby Memorial on Beacon st., with a solemn mass of requiem at St. Patrick's Church, Roxbury, at 10:45 a. m.

When God's Men Braved Savages

Though there were satirical cartoons, like this from Punch, all men admired their bravery.

BRAVE WAS THE WORD for the men of religion who took their fate in their hands and went "down under"—down to the islands of the South Seas to explain the ways of God to man.

Cap'n Dave Landers, one of the last of sea-dogs who commanded the old Yankee Clipper ships when they ruled the seven seas, tells you about them in his extraordinarily vivid memoirs appearing in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with the next Boston Sunday Advertiser

This is the eighth in a series written by a man who for 50 years trod the decks, from cabin boy to captain, through tropic heat and Arctic cold. Don't miss it!

N. E. TROOPS START TREK SOUTH; DRAFT OF COLORED YOUTHS NEAR

While local draft officials hailed the news that colored draftees will be called within a week or so, New England today was witnessing the biggest troop movement since World War days.

Headed for the sunny South were the first of some 16,000 men of the 43d Division, comprising many men and officers who served with the famed Yankee Division in France.

While some motor convoys are already rolling toward the 43d's new home in Fort Blanding, Fla., the first to entrain will be a detachment of 300 officers and men scheduled to leave Providence in a 14-car train at 6:15 p. m. over the New Haven railroad.

At 8:30 p. . . a train of 17 cars will pull out of Portland, Me., with 432 men, over the Boston & Maine

Shortly after midnight tomorrow, a train will leave Hartford, Ct., to be followed later, on Saturday, by two more special trains carrying a total of 900 officers and men of advance detachments. On the Boston & Maine, a 10-car train will leave Manchester, N. H., at 9:15 a. m. Saturday, with 234 men. On Saturday night, at 8 p. m., a third train will leave White River Junction, Vt., with 232 men aboard.

All in all, there will be 41 special trains for the 43d Division

The troop movements over the New Haven will continue through March 17. On the Boston & Maine they will be concluded March 21. Draftees for Fort Wheeler will start moving from Fort Devens on March 12.

Draft officials indicated that some of their problems in finding eligible men will be solved when the call for colored draftees comes during the week of March 16, probably March 19.

It was estimated that about 100 colored youths from the Bay State will be called in the first draft. Board 17, with headquarters in the Irvington st. Armory, will supply the largest individual group, it is said.

Meanwhile, inductions continued at the Columbus st. examining center with the latest rejections roughly estimated at 16 per cent. There were 325 men accepted for service and 77 turned down.

Your Letter's Your Own

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please give me your point of view about a question that is puzzling me? Is it proper that I read my letters, as soon as I receive them, to a relative of my husband's who lives with us?

I think that I should read a letter to myself first, and then, if I wish, read it to her or hand it to her for her to read. She receives letters from many people, and as soon as she opens a letter, she reads it aloud to us. Now I feel that this is not necessary. I have a friend who has a mother-in-law who does the same thing, but she, the daughter-in-law does not read the letters she receives until she has read them privately.

ANXIOUS.

I agree with you that this is the kind of question that can be extremely puzzling. Letters are such personal possessions that naturally we want to have a choice as to what we do with them, as to whom we share them with. But on the other hand we don't want to hurt others who expect to share them with us, and who do generously always share their letters with us.

My advice to you is that you take your letters into your own room, read and enjoy them for yourself. If you wish, if you think they will interest your husband's relative, share them with her. This is a sensible and practical thing to do, and I am sure that she will respect your wish for correspondence privacy. Be as casual as you can be about reading your letters in your room; don't give the impression of being furtive about this.

SHOULD ONE DRINK FROM A SOUP CUP?

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it permissible to drink from a two-handled soup cup, no matter how small? I've seen some people drink from a two-handled cup and I don't think it is the right thing to do. G. S.

Yes, it's proper to drink from a small two-handled soup cup—a bouillon cup—if we use only one handle of the cup, as we would a tea cup. As a matter of fact, that is what we are expected to do: take two or three sips of the clear soup with the bouillon spoon or teaspoon, to test the heat of the soup, and then drink the rest of the soup.

The point is not so much that the soup cup has two handles as that the soup is a clear soup. Very often hostesses serve clear soup in a two-handled cup larger than a bouillon cup—the so-called cream soup cup. If we wish, we may drink the soup from this larger cup. But we should lift the cup by only one handle!

Fish Recipes In New Book

By MARTHA LEE

TO MEET the great demand of homemakers who wish to learn how to properly prepare fish and to save money on their food budgets, the third printing of the free Fish and Shellfish Cook Book has just been completed by the Fishery Council. The contents, for the most part, were compiled by the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of Interior.

The 32-page book not only contains fish recipes, but also information on purchasing, food values and how to determine fresh fish. It is designed to give women the essential fundamentals of fish cookery and how to obtain the most and best for their money.

A free copy may be obtained by writing Fishery Council, 291 Water st., New York city, and enclosing return postage.

Following are recipes from the book:

FISH SOUFFLE

2 cups cold cooked fish flakes
2 tbsp. grated carrot
2 tbsp. grated onion
4 eggs
¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. salt
2 cups well-seasoned mashed potatoes (about the consistency of thick white sauce)

Preheat the oven to 360 deg. F. Prepare the potatoes. Mix well with the fish flakes, the salt, pepper, onion and carrots. Separate the egg yolks and whites. Beat the whites until stiff and set aside. Then beat the yolks until light yellow and combine with fish flakes, then the potatoes, and lastly fold in the egg whites. Put in a greased baking dish. Set in a pan of warm water and place on the center rack of the oven. Bake slowly for 30 minutes

HASH SUPREME

2 cups cold cooked fish (large flakes)
¾ cup salt pork, diced
¾ cup onion, diced
1 cup beets, diced (cooked)
2½ cups diced potatoes (cooked)
¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. salt
¼ cup water
4 tbsp. garlic vinegar

Mix the vinegar and fish flakes. Fry the pork to a golden brown, add the onion and cook to a golden yellow. Add all of the ingredients and lastly pour over the ¼-cup of water. Cover and let cook slowly. Stir occasionally until thoroughly heated through and the flavors are blended.

BOILED FISH AND VEGETABLE DINNER

2 lbs. fillets, steaks or pan-dressed fish
½ lb. each turnips, potatoes, onions, carrots
1 lb. cabbage
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¾ cup diced salt pork (fat back)
2 cups water

In a heavy kettle or Dutch oven, fry the pork to a golden brown, add 1 cup water and all the vegetables except the cabbage, which is cooked separately. Allow the vegetables to cook for 20 to 25 minutes, add the salt, pepper, and second cup of water. Lay the fish (flesh side down) across the vegetables, cover with the cooked cabbage, and cook the whole about five minutes more. Place the fish in the center of a hot platter, surrounded by the cooked vegetables. The liquid remaining in the kettle may be served in a side bowl.

Birthday Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE
Friday, March 7, 1941

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—You are faithful, forgiving, amiable. Need consistent encouragement and sympathy. Detest vulgarity. Retain a certain amount of mystery about your little ways. For better health you should avoid low, damp areas and be especially careful about keeping the blood stream clear. You'll grow strong under the guidance of religion. Your unquenchable spirit puts you in excellent position for gain.

LUCKY NUMBER—Today's lucky number is 63.

LUCKY COLOR—Today's lucky color is shell pink.

Send 15 cents and large self-addressed stamped envelope to Frances Drake, Boston Evening American, Box 2228, Boston, for an individual horoscope, personal guide and lucky calendar for the first six months of 1941, giving the day and month you were born.

In Love With Boy of 18--Or Is it Really Love?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm in love with a boy a year and five months younger than I am. He's 18. We've been going "steady" for two years, and have been devoted to each other. In order to raise enough money on which to marry, he is out of town working. I'm so afraid, as he's so young, that he will go out with other girls while away and spend his savings on them. And I'm afraid to marry him because he's younger.

He tells everybody he is 20 just for my sake, so none of my family or friends knows how old he is. Should I wait for him? Or do you think I'd better look around for a boy friend older than I am?

CAN'T DECIDE.

Eighteen is certainly pretty young for a boy to become formally engaged and begin to save for marriage. But sometimes these first affairs are the most serious in a man's life. You don't seem very much in love, to my way of thinking, as you hesitate to keep on with this boy or leave yourself free to become engaged to someone else.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My boy friend is one of those "doubting Thomases" A long time ago a girl told him a lot of lies about me, and he keeps on bringing up that subject, although nothing he heard is true. He tells me he loves me, and it seems to me if he really loved me he wouldn't believe gossip. Do you think so?

MARTIE.

Repeating malicious gossip, which is untrue, is a pretty dangerous pastime and is likely to involve one in a lawsuit. This girl who carried gossip should watch her step. At the same time, I don't think much of a boy who would listen to gossip about a girl and then tell her that he's in love with her.

If this affair should become serious and you marry the young man, he'd probably drive you wild with his unfounded suspicions. I hope you will think it over carefully.

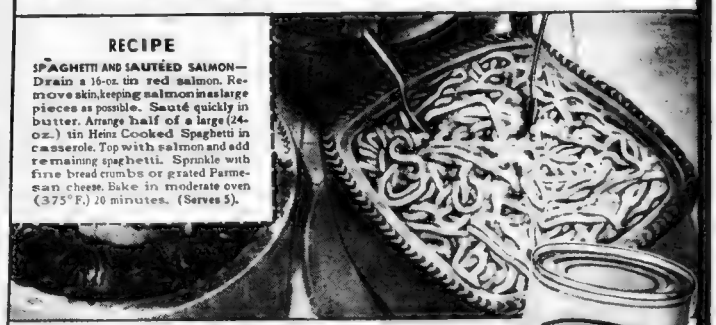
RECIPE
SPAGHETTI AND SAUTÉED SALMON—Drain a 16-oz. tin red salmon. Remove skin, keeping salmon in as large pieces as possible. Sauté quickly in butter. Arrange half of a large (24-oz.) tin Heinz Cooked Spaghetti in casserole. Top with salmon and add remaining spaghetti. Sprinkle with fine bread crumbs or grated Parmesan cheese. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 20 minutes. (Serves 5).



WHY worry about meatless meals when your grocer has Heinz Cooked Spaghetti? Ready to serve, this nourishing dish is grand by itself—or with leftovers. You'll relish its rich tomato sauce—the toothsome goodness of Heinz-made spaghetti strands. It's wise to keep a few tins handy.

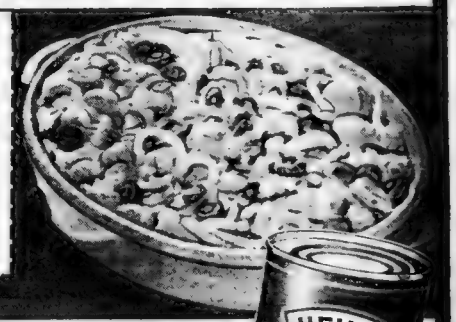
RECIPE
MACARONI AND CAULIFLOWER CASSEROLE—Wash and separate into flowerets 1 small head cauliflower. Cook 8 minutes in rapidly boiling salted water. Drain. Brown 1 small tin mushrooms in 1 tbs. butter. Reserve several mushrooms for garnishing. Combine remaining mushrooms with cauliflower. Add, mixing lightly with fork, 1 medium (17-oz.) tin Heinz Cooked Macaroni. Pour into casserole and arrange rest of mushrooms on top. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 20 minutes. (Serves 4).



A GENEROUS drenching of tangy, cheese-flavored cream sauce makes Heinz Cooked Macaroni extra rich and mouth-watering! So energy-giving it's almost a meal in itself, this thrifty, ready-to-serve dish solves many a meatless-meal problem. It's wise these days to keep a good supply handy!

HEY! SWAN'S AS PURE AND MILD AS IMPORTED CASTILE!
MAN OH MAN! WHAT A BATH WITH SWAN'S RICHER LATHER!
LOOKIT! SWAN'S GRAND IN THE KITCHEN—AND HOW IT LASTS!
THE FIRST REALLY NEW WHITE FLOATING SOAP SINCE THE GAY NINETIES

How you'll cheer when Swan Soap floats into your home!

It's 8 ways better! Try it and see!

"ME GET EXCITED over a cake of soap?" Is that you—being indifferent? Wait—listen!

Take off that cheery Swan wrapper; look at that luscious, pure, white cake; feel the smooth firmness of it; smell the clean freshness of it. And next thing you know—you're falling for Swan, the first honest-to-goodness different floating soap in your whole lifetime!

Different? Yes—better in eight distinct ways!

1. Whiter! Pure as imported castile! Swan's as mild, by test, as imported olive oil castile—considered until now tops in mildness.

2. Suds two times quicker! Swan breaks into rich, creamy, luxurious suds two times quicker than old-style floating soaps. Suds that don't go flat if you leave your dishpan a minute.

3. Much firmer! Lasts longer! Feel this harder, firmer cake and you can tell it has far less moisture, is bound to last longer. It won't warp, either.

4. Lathers swell in hard water! Yes, Swan bursts into instant suds in hard water, cold water, any old kind of water—while old-style floating soaps give only a few thin, skimpy suds!

5. Breaks as if sliced! No need to find a knife or string to cut Swan. No jagged, rough edges. It breaks smoothly into 2 lovely cakes—one for kitchen, one for bathroom.

6. Swan smells fresher! Never harsh or strong; never flat or stale. Swan smells clean as mountain air.

7. Smoother, finer-textured! And no wonder! Swan is creamed over and over—64 times a minute!

8. Gives you more real soap! —Swan has much less moisture than old-type floating soap. No need to store a supply to dry out and harden. We do it.

Order Swan from your store today. Use it for face, hands, bath; for shampoos; for baby's bath and baby's clothes; for your own fine things, silks, woolens; for dishes; for woodwork—use it, in short, wherever pure, gentle soap is needed!

Compare it with your present all-purpose soap. We double-dare you.

Then—if you don't say: "Swan for us!"—we'll give you double your money back. Simply send the wrapper to Swan, Cambridge, Mass. Offer closes April 4, 1941.

Two convenient sizes —Large and Regular!

SAVE WITH SWAN SOAP

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

MEMORIES—We think of them so romantically. Yet what blight they can be, draining our strength, shackling our ambition . . . offering us shameful escapes from Reality.

In the first line of Sholem Asch's unforgettable book there is this terrific sentence:

"Not the power to remember, but the very opposite, the power to forget, is a necessary condition of our existence."

"The power to forget"—that's a vital necessity for all of us. And unless and until we attain that power, we will achieve no real growth.

MEMORIES OF THE PAST HAVE WRECKED MORE HUMAN BEINGS THAN ALL THE HANDICAPS AND STRUGGLES IN THE PRESENT.

You cannot carry your Yesterdays with you, be they sweet or sad. If you attempt to do so, they'll make a mess of your Present and a fade-out of your Future.

HAVE YOU walked in a forest? Then you will remember the deep, soft wood-loam beneath your feet. That loam was composed of the forest's yesterday . . . of all its winter's fallen leaves and rotting twigs . . . its discarded records. They were lovely in their days, those leaves and twigs, but when they had served their time, they had to go.

If they had not gone, the forest could not have lived. For trees must shed themselves before they can renew themselves . . . put off the old growth before the new growth comes. Yet the old growth is not really lost. Its strength goes into a life-giving loam in which the tree roots and spreads. But, above the roots, the growing tree must reach out toward new life.

What is law for a tree is law for a man. We, too, must shed our Yesterdays before we can be renewed. We cannot live in the Past and the Present at the same time. We must learn to forget or become drifting ghosts—"zombies," the "living dead."

THIS is one of the hardest lessons we humans have to learn, for we are all lonely, frightened children at heart. Desperately we cling to the memories of a gentle mother's face, a kindly father's hand . . . to the young years when life was an iridescent bubble.

They are so much easier to face than present reality, those years that have gone. Time has drained the bitterness from them . . . removed the tests . . . turned them into another Shangri-La. Actually, they were never as sweet or secure as we thought they were.

But they offer an escape from the pressure of Today and we seize them gratefully. But we pay a terrible price for that escape. A man must shed his Yesterdays as surely as a tree. If he does not, he will rot.

Yet our Yesterdays need not be lost if we are willing to give them up. All they contained of love and joy sturdy adventure, honest regret and real grief will become as loam for fresh new growth . . . If we are willing to go on. "If we would save our lives, we must lose them."

A WEDDING with an international flavor takes place today in New York, and links a Boston family with a famous name of France . . . when Marisa (Gogo) Schiaparelli becomes the bride of Robert Lawrence Berenson of New York, formerly of Boston and The Hague.

What the bride will wear is always interesting, but particularly so when the bride is the daughter of the celebrated Madame Elsa Schiaparelli . . . who incidentally will not see her child married because Madame Schiaparelli is in Paris

Anyhow, "Gogo" will wear a bridal gown of heavy white mat crepe, a Schiaparelli model, naturally . . . with a yoke of tulle and a neckline embroidered in pearls.

She will have only one attendant . . . Edith Clark, an English school friend . . . who will wear "sleeping" blue mousseline de soie with pale pink embroidery and long pink gloves.

Because of the war, and the absence of the bride's mother, the wedding will be small . . . but it will nevertheless be elegant. The ceremony will be performed by Father Picirillo, pastor of the Church of St. Vincent de Paul, at Hampshire House in New York.

A suite at the hotel will be converted into a small chapel decorated in white . . . and the bride will be given in marriage by Baron Hubert Lejeune.

The young couple will honeymoon in Bermuda . . . and "Gogo" will depart for her wedding trip wearing a "Salut" blue suit with a felt hat in the same shade . . . and a mink coat which is a gift from her mother.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH W. GERRITY, JR. . . . now honeymooning in Cuba, snapped in the gardens of the Hotel Nacional de Cuba in Havana . . . Mrs. Gerrity is the former Phyllis Van Buren Richard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Richard of New York. Mr. Gerrity is the son of the Joseph W. Gerritys of Newton.

Hasty Pudding Dance Tomorrow

CIRCLED ON THE SOCIAL CALENDAR for tomorrow evening is the annual Hasty Pudding dance to which a number of Boston debs and post-debs have been bidden.

Society girls will trek up from New York, and a party of girls from Vassar will be on hand hoping to see bits of the show performed . . . the show, of course, being the Hasty Pudding, scheduled for March 21 and 22 at the Civic Repertory Theater this year.

If the numbers which were "previewed" by Ruth and Paul Draper and the other cocktail guests of the Hasty Pudding Club the other day are a sample, the show should be even better than usual this year . . . and we hear that three of the tunes have already been published by BMI.

Debutantes attending will include Ellen Vaughan, squired by William Atchley . . . Julie Falvey, with William Barnes of Minneapolis . . . Helen Knowles with Robert Winsor, 3d . . . Rosita Richmond with Eliot Hubbard, 3d . . . Deborah Bixby Law with Eliot Farley, Jr., of Terryville, Ct., and Barbara Anne Newbert with Reginald Wigham of New York.

Frances Weld of Hastings-on-Hudson . . . granddaughter of Mrs. Stephen Weld . . . will be the guest of Gardiner Pierson of Pittsfield, New York . . . and Grace Cutting will come up from New York to attend with Endicott Peabody, 2d, of Utica, New York.

Catherine Adams of Boston will be escorted by Leverett Saltonstall Tuckerman, Jr., of Salem, and Georgianna Pratt of Chestnut Hill will be the guest of Philip Sharples of Cambridge.

Ushering at the party will be Everett H. Brown, 3d, Thomas Gardiner, George Putnam and his twin, Charles Putnam, Henry G. Simonds, Jr., John B. Reece, John Glidden, William LaCroix and Philip W. Turnbull . . . Mrs. William Brace Pratt and Mrs. W. Granville Anderson will be chaperones.

Dinner Dance Aids Charity

At the Sheraton tomorrow evening the third in the series of dinner dances goes on, with many of the smart set holding reservations.

Among those who will have tables at the party, the proceeds of which go to charity, are Mrs. Merrill Griswold, Mrs. Emery Trott, Jr., Mrs. William DeFord Beal, Mrs. William Herron, Mrs. Marcus Beebe, Barbara Fitch and Mrs. James B. Greason, Mrs. Henry O. Hough, Mrs. Donald Davis.

HUB FOLK IN MIAMI

Among the Bostonians in the Miami Beach colony this month are Dr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Meigs of Chestnut Hill and J. Bertram Mitchell of Boston, guests at the Pancoast.

Infant Asylum Gets Bridge Proceeds

IN AID of St. Mary's Infant Asylum of Dorchester, the annual green bridge and whist will be held on Monday afternoon, March 17, in the Louis XIV ballroom of the Hotel Somerset.

Elizabeth I. Norton of Dorchester, who has conducted these parties for the past few years, will head the committees, with her sister, Anna C. Norton, as assistant.

St. Mary's Infant Asylum cares for babies up to the age of three years old. Hospital trained Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul are in charge of the children.

Assisting Miss Norton on committees are Mary Harrington, Catherine Norton, Barbara Viano, Christine Mason, Marguerite Donovan, Doris Reardon, Elizabeth Harkins, Martha Norton, Alice Sullivan, Mary Fitzgerald.

Horse Show For Red Cross

The Spring Hunter and Jumper Horse Show will be held at the Weld Stock Farm on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, March 22, with the proceeds going to benefit the American Red Cross.

Mr. Bayard Tuckerman will be the Hunter Judge and Mr. Clarence Boswell and Mr. Josiah Westcott will be the Open Jumper Judges and Mr. Murray Wilder will be the Judge Equatation of the Saddle Horse classes.

Mr. William E. Schlusemeyer of Framingham is the chairman and Mr. John Hopewell, Milwood Hunt Club, Framingham, and Mrs. Gardner H. Fiske, Weston, are the vice-chairmen.

The committee includes Mr. Russel Knoles, Jacobs Hill Hunt Club, Rehobeth; Mr. Nathoniel Thayer Clark, Norfolk Hunt Club, Dover; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin B. Farnsworth, Sterling Hunt Club, Sterling; Mr. Earl Wheldon, Providence, R. I.; Mr. William H. Beggar's Child

By Charles McGuirk

DOREEN MACKLIN is no beggar's child, though you'll hear whispers. The whispers come from that branch of the public which glorifies dirt and gets its greatest pleasure out of besmirching its heroes and heroines.

The Cast of Characters in "Beggar's Child"

DOREEN, a movie star who has known the depths of poverty and who also knows a

It must be admitted, too, that the various publicity departments of picture companies with whom she has had contracts have done nothing to discourage the tale. They argue that it surrounds Doreen with an aura of romance, even though it is slightly soiled and while they have all indignantly denied the story in print, they have secretly encouraged it.

You might say, looking at Doreen, that if her father was one, he was a lucky beggar. You've seen her, of course, in the three years she has been before the public. The blonde with the blue eyes, the full mouth and the form that has made her the American collegian's sweetheart and the average man's idea of how a lady should look.

Doreen is partly to blame for the persistence of the ridiculous story that her father is Shawn Delvin, a blind beggar still plying his trade in the mid-town district of New York. She has never troubled to deny it. She has always greeted it with a laugh.

Once, she told a group of newspaper people that if it weren't for Shawn Devlin, she wouldn't be where she is today. That was printed and to the whisperers of the sub rosa story it was fairly complete proof, though they had another even more complete.

It was the fact that, whenever she signed a new contract, she always stipulated that Shawn Devlin be paid a hundred dollars a week, the same to be deducted from her salary. Who, they asked, would pay a blind beggar a hundred dollars a week unless she was bound to him in some way.

HOW IT HAPPENED

It was a very fair question. Here's the answer.

It began back in the summer of 1936 when Doreen arrived in New York, a young and very new orphan with little money in her pocket. She looked and was very much as she does today, the only difference being that then she wanted everything and had nothing. She was stage, radio and picture-struck. She wanted to be an actress on the stage or screen but she would have settled for a singer or a dancer.

She was fairly well equipped for any of these careers. She was pretty and persistent. Her form, as you know, looked well in street or evening clothes, better in a bathing suit. She had a pleasing contralto voice and she could do a little tap and ballet dancing and follow a simple chorus routine.

When she climbed on the treadmill and became one of the million talented youngsters fighting for a place in the world of amusement, she had $100. It melted like butter on a June day. As it shrank, she moved from the best to the better, to the good, to the not-so-good, to the very poor lodgings and she fed herself accordingly.

While it was shrinking, she made the rounds of the theatrical agencies; peeped into the radio stations; answered chorus calls.

It was somewhere in this period she came to known Shawn Devlin. She hadn't yet met him formally because Shawn was not one of the people you meet that way. Shawn was a tin-cup mendicant. He walked slowly behind his tapping cane with a tin cup held suggestively before him. He made no attempt to draw attention to himself. He did not beg for alms. He just walked along.

He was a big man, just turning gray. His sightless eyes were blue but his face was red and jolly. There were crinkles at the corner of the eyes.

The first time Doreen saw him, she had a lot of money in her purse, and she reached for a quarter and dropped it into the cup. It went home with a jingling thud and Shawn murmured, "God bless you, Miss." Afterward, Doreen wondered how he, being blind, knew that she was, first a woman at all, and then, an unmarried woman.

Looking back at the incident, she told herself that she hadn't given him the money because he was blind, but because he was a beggar. It is lucky to give a coin to a beggar. Indeed, it is unlucky not to. Anybody in show business will tell you that. Only it wasn't the truth she was telling herself. She hadn't given him the money for fear. She had given it because she liked the big man and she was sorry that he had been afflicted.

The next time she saw him she gave him a dime, not, as she told herself, to be on the safe side, but because there was not so much in her purse and the prospects weren't good. Again he said, "God bless you, Miss," and tapped on past her.

HOW DID HE KNOW?

This went on for months. She would not see him every day. Sometimes she'd see him twice or three times a week. Other times she wouldn't see him for two or three weeks. It all depended upon when she got up and where she was going or coming from. She didn't give him a quarter again until she got her job in the chorus. Up to then she dropped nickels or dimes or pennies in his cup. And always he said, "God bless you, Miss."

It began to obsess her. Did he really know that she was a "Miss" or did he say that to every woman? If he knew, how did he know? Was he really blind or was he a faker? One day she and Irene Taub, a chorus girl and her good friend met Shawn on 45th st.

"This beggar always calls me 'Miss.'" Doreen said, "I wonder if and how he knows. I even wonder if he's blind. I'm going to find out."

She fumbled in her purse and found a nickel. It was easy. There was only a nickel and a dime and three pennies and a quarter there. As Shawn tapped his way abreast of them, Doreen dropped it in his cup.

"God bless you, Miss," said Shawn.

"How do you know I'm a 'Miss'?" Doreen asked him quickly.

He stopped and turned slowly so that he faced her, and his sightless eyes were steady just over Doreen's head. He began slowly to smile.

"I don't know," he confessed, "but I think you are because you're young. You're hardly more than a child."

"How do you know that?" Doreen persisted.

"I know it by your walk," he told her and his smile grew. "I know more than that about you."

"Tell me," Doreen pressed eagerly.

"Well, I know that you're a dancer," he said. "I can tell it by the firm lightness of your step. There is a spring in it that only dancing can give. And I know that you're a singer because your voice is pleasing and flexible. And I think you're pretty because you forget about yourself when you're talking to someone else, and only a pretty girl does that at your age."

"How do you know that?"

"Because the first time you dropped anything in my cup, it was a quarter. Then it was a dime. After that, it was a dime or a nickel, even a penny. Then the quarters came again for four weeks. Now, it's a nickel. It's very simple. You give with your heart and according to your means. Only your means change. Your heart never changes.

"Don't let it, child. When we're young, we believe. When we get older and clever, we stop believing. But when we get old enough to know, we believe again. And I really am blind. You mustn't think I'd take money from the poor if I weren't."

HER BIG CHANCE

He turned then and tapped away and he was smiling and that made Doreen feel that much worse. She got so she went out of her way to avoid him, not only because she was ashamed that he knew of her doubt, but because she didn't have a penny to give him. Things were terribly bad. There wasn't a job in sight and her rent was due in three days.

She came home one morning, because she had forgotten a handkerchief, and found a call from a radio studio. They wanted her to sing within a half hour there and the studio was up on Broadway in the late Fifties. Fifteen minutes had elapsed since the call came in and she couldn't make it, even if she ran. And she didn't have a nickel for carfare.

She walked along fast and doggedly, doing the best she could and thinking how terrible luck could be. And all of a sudden she saw Shawn tapping along. She hurried to him.

"Mister Blind Man," she panted, "will you lend me a nickel? I have a chance to sing over the radio but I must be there in ten minutes or the chance will be gone."

"Take a dollar," Shawn said at once and handed it to her.

"If I land the job," she called back, "I'll pay you a salary as long as I live because if you didn't give me this, I couldn't get there."

She made it, all right, and it was her big chance. From the radio she went to the pictures and became the sweetheart of America. And she kept her word to Shawn because she is that kind of a girl. "Beggar's Child" My eye!

Plays Detective In New Thriller

By PEGGY DOYLE

Exchanging swashbuckling for slewfooting, the photogenic Errol Flynn gives promise of light-comedy potentialities in Warners' wacky "Footsteps in the Dark," now showing on the Metropolitan screen.

It may have been relief at getting out of his Robin Hood regalia and being excused from his fencing lessons, but somehow Mr. Flynn seems more at ease in his current sack-suit mood and not nearly so tense as when he's giving with a bow and arrow.

But don't get the idea that Warners have ruled thrills out of his screen life. On the contrary, the Flynn is leading a double life on the Met screen this week that has him in hot water most of the time.

A SECRET WRITER

To his mother-in-law and wife, Lucille Watson, and Brenda Marshall, respectively, he is a not too dignified but definitely well-regarded investment broker.

Police Inspector Alan Hale and Bodyguard Allen Jenkins, however, know him as F. X. Pettijohn, author of detective stories and amateur sleuth whose plots are hot off the police blotter.

SHOWS THEM UP

'High Sierra' Feature On Uptown Screen

"High Sierra," the gangster film to end gangster films co-starring Humphrey Bogard and Ida Lupino, teams with the George Brent-Ann Sheridan starring farce comedy, "Honeymoon for Three" on the Uptown screen.

Calloway Revue Scores Triumph

His royal highness, the King of Hi-De-Ho and his sepia boys and gals, are playing hot and sweet at the RKO-Boston, where Cab Calloway's theme song started the enthusiasm.

There was cause enough for the roaring just in the band numbers alone, which include such stirring samples of 1941 as "Dark Eyes," "Some of These Days," "Jumpin' Jive" and St. James Infirmary," all put over with those extra jazzy frills in which Cab and his men specialize and which would stir even a gang of wooden Indians into a frenzy.

Right in the class with these sizzling ensembles are the de luxe rhythm numbers, such as the one shared by the band and the Six Cotton Club Boys, the quivering quintet bringing to the front the Five Cab Drivers, a group composed of drum, bass fiddle, guitar, vibraphone and tenor sax experts and the exciting finale, "Chili Con Carne," which is an extra hot offering worked up to the high temperature by the whole company.

fine Avis Andrews song offerings, "Handful of Stars" and "Night and Day."

On the Keith-Boston screen is "Meet the Chump," with the always funny Hugh Herbert as the much-abused hero.

'Shark Woman' Is New Feature

Abounding in colorful incidents and suspenseful moments, "Shark Woman" gives you pearl-divers, tiger-shark fights, blood-curdling battles to the death between octopi and giant sharks.

In an unpretty world where men die of thirst on shipboard when they are not being attacked by man-eating cannibals on land, you are shown that love can bloom when Ahmang, young Adonis of Malaysia, and the beautiful Sai-yu look into each other's eyes.

'SO ENDS OUR NIGHT' POWERFUL FILM DRAMA OF PRE-WAR NAZI REFUGEES

Loew's Screens Offer New Hit

By PEGGY DOYLE

Probably no film has so poignantly presented the tragic helplessness of refugees from Nazi Germany seeking asylum in pre-war Europe as "So Ends Our Night," the new Loew's State and Orpheum attraction.

It is powerful, honest drama, expertly directed, excellently played. Based on Erich Maria Remarque's fine and more expressively titled novel, "Flotsam," it entirely sidesteps these obvious anti-Nazi sequences showing concentration camps and other scenes of physical brutalities.

Infinitely more heartbreaking is its deft understatement of the courage with which these homeless ones face frustration, the good humor with which they take destitution, homelessness, even starvation in their stride.

YOUNG ACTOR SURPRISES

Margaret Sullavan, whose 'Mortal Storm" performance was so memorable, and Fredric March are its co-stars, and tremendously effective are their portrayals. But it is young Glenn Ford, practically an unknown, whose forthright likeability and sheer ability will give you the surprise of your life.

March, who occasionally can and does over-act, completely loses himself in the character of Josef Steiner, exiled German army officer whose one desire is to get back to his young wife in Germany, but who meanwhile unhesitatingly shares his last shilling with even more unfortunate refugees. He is outstanding.

TOP PERFORMANCE

Miss Sullavan's Ruth is another top caliber performance. In a less featured role, lovely Frances Dee returns to the screen to prove that Joel McCrea isn't the only screen star in the family.

Even more welcome was the sight of charming Anna Sten, whose brief bit indicates that the producers have been missing a bet in not using her very considerable talents.

On the same bill, you'll be seeing "Maisie Was a Lady," another rollicking chapter in the life of the blithesome blonde that Ann Sothern makes irresistible.

Thomas Mitchell in Crime Play On Paramount, Fenway Screens

By DON WARD

An unusual murder story gives that fine actor, Thomas Mitchell, a commanding role in "Flight from Destiny," novel invitation to murder on the screens at the Paramount and Fenway. "Invitation to Murder" was, as a matter of fact, its original title.

It serves, too, to bring gifted Geraldine Fitzgerald back to the screen, topping her splendid performance in "Dark Victory." An altogether distinguished cast contributes to this controversial story of a college professor who, with but six months to live, decides that his gift to humanity will be the removal of some heeless being beyond the ordinary processes of law and punishment.

The psychological drama gets under way when Geraldine's nice young husband, Jeffrey Lynn, gets involved with the exotic and ruthless adventuress, Monk Maris. Geraldine and Jeffrey are Prof. Mitchell's favorite students, and their happiness seems to him something worth living for—and murdering for. For the unscrupulous siren has left a trail of wrecked homes and hearts behind her, and she's just the victim the professor is looking for. But when the crime is done the wretched savant realizes that his theory is unsound, dangerous and against the laws of God and man.

All the performances are exceptional in this extraordinary crime drama. James Stephenson, who gathered laurels in "The Letter," deserves mention along with the others.

Midnight Revue On Old Howard Stage

The current "Night Hawks" revue will be the attraction at the midnight show at the Old Howard tonight. In the large company of burlesque favorites are Rosita Royce; Jack Diamond; Amy Fong; Frank X. Silk; Zara; Gloria Dahl; Romayne; Five Cardovas; Yvonne and Gilbert; Ethel Deveaux; Dudley Douglass, Carmen and Conchita; Bo Jenkins and Wendy Harris.

Carol Can Still Jump

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(Distributed by International News Service)

If he had abdicated on a straight line he would have traveled three times around the world. Carol has seen tougher spots than 12 on the dice.

Old faithful Lupescu sticks to Carol through thick and thin and reminds me of that girl I wrote about, "She used to go with the landlord but now she goes with the lease."

Carol's case would be tragic but for the fact that it must go down in history as accidental drowning from carrying water on both shoulders. Carol made a mind bet, lost it and could only pay half the wager.

Now he is on the lamm like a gangster in a hot car. Well, he might come over here if he can qualify on the quota, pass the intelligence quiz and get by the saliva test, which means smacking a cuspidor dead center at 15 feet.

King Eddie is doing pretty well down in the Bahamas while England is trying to make up the time it lost putting him back on his hoss.

GAS MASK TRAINING

Hull residents will be offered instruction in use of gas masks, it was learned today from members of the Hull national defense committee. Several masks have been obtained from Fort Revere in Hull and assigned to a group which will be trained to instruct townspeople interested in learning protection from gas attack.

Drapers Give Repeat Bill

Miss Ruth Draper is presenting two of her most popular sketches, "Doctors" and "Three Generations in a Court of Domestic Relations," at tonight's performance and again tomorrow afternoon and evening at the Plymouth Theater.

Paul Draper, whose blending of ballet and tap dancing has won him acclaim in the dance world, will continue with his sensational program of solo dancing to the music of the classics.

51 Stage Plays Used in Pictures

The annual report of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, headed by Will H. Hays, shows that 51 stage plays, a record number, were used as the basis of films in 1940.

In 1939, a total of 34 plays were converted into pictures. Last year's figure represents 9.8 per cent of all films passed by the Hays office.

Swallows Early At Capistrano

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Cal., March 7 (AP)—The swallows have come back to Capistrano, off schedule once again.

For 160 years, according to legend, the swallows have been arriving at the Mission De San Juan Capistrano on St. Joseph's Day, March 19, and departing for the south on Oct. 23.

Last autumn, however, they left ahead of time, as they had done the year before. Scout swallows arrived Monday, and a much larger flock flew in on Wednesday.

Ramon Yorba, the Mission sexton, has an explanation.

"Perhaps," he says, "the birds knew somehow that our heavy rains this spring washed away their mud nests, and that they must get here before St. Joseph's Day in order to build new homes."

Food Law Hits Nazi Magicians

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Wartime restrictions have hit the German sleight-of- hand performer—the old standbys of making eggs disappear and pulling rabbits out of hats have been banned.

The food rationing system is responsible, says Editor John Mulholland of the magical magazine, The Sphinx. Any illusion using food or its likeness is forbidden, because it might cause dissension in the audience.

"The Nazis have taken over all the magical societies," he added, "and made them a part of the Reich. In occupied France, I understand no French magician may travel from unoccupied to occupied territory. They've found them too expert at carrying verboten communications."

Lowell Widow Sees 3 Sons Off For Army Duty

Revealed For The First Time

New testimony in the Grand Jury hearing brings more inside facts to light in George W. Clarke's astounding series on race fixing.

Bill Corum Says:

JOE SCHENCK ADMITS HE'D LIKE TO BUY YANKS

NEW YORK, March 7—There have been times when it has looked as though this column was having as much trouble trying to sell the New York Yankees as its good friend, Jim Farley, was having trying to buy 'em.

JOE SCHENCK

It happened to be our good luck to have a clean beat on the original story of the Ruppert baseball empire being for sale, and also to have been one of the first to mention Farley as a possible buyer.

Indeed, we attended the Democratic convention in Chicago last spring at Jim's suggestion. He thought he would have a good sports story at the convention's end. But the story was lost and dissipated in the shuffle of more important matters.

Three terms and in, and not three strikes and out, was the motto of the untrammeled and unfettered—or so the speakers said—hosts of Democracy that met in the heat of the very Windy City. When the shouting died, Jim was more popular than ever, but he still hadn't bought the Yankees. Nor has he yet, of course.

Now, I understand, that the most likely buyer of the Yanks and their farm clubs is Joe Schenck, the movie man. My source is what might be called 100 per cent. It is Mr. Schenck.

A friend had told me that if I could locate Joe I might get a good sports story. I located him. It wasn't particularly difficult. Nor was it hard to see him.

We had met before casually at various places. Talked often enough for me to know that he talked my way. Which is to say factually and candidly.

"I was told you've got a sports story under your belt," I told him.

"All I've got under my belt is my lunch," he replied. "I don't own any race horse."

* * *

He Should Have Told Me Sooner

"I know," I replied. "But come to think of it, I picked a horse named Joe Schenck for the Widener Cup race last Saturday."

"He can't run that far," explained my host.

"You should have told me that Friday night," I said. "But this doesn't have to be a racing story . . ."

"Oh," he interrupted, "maybe it's about the Yankees."

"What about the Yankees?"

"I'd like to buy 'em, if what I hear about the price is correct. Is it true that a million dollars down would swing the deal?"

"I don't know for sure, but I wouldn't be surprised," I told him.

"There isn't any secret about the estate and the lawyers being anxious to sell. Nor do I think it is a secret that most smart baseball men think they'd be a real buy for the right man at that money."

"What makes you think I'd feel that way?"

"The fact that I've been seeing you at all sorts of sports events for the last ten years, and the feeling those who know you better than I, have about you. Besides, you wouldn't want to get into baseball at this time in your life to make a career out of it. You must have a yen to own a big league team as Tom Yawkey had one and Col. Ruppert himself."

"I've thought about it casually ever since I heard the Yankees could be bought. Frankly, I like the Yanks because they win. Because people talk about 'em. But, then, I heard Jim Farley was interested in buying them and I didn't want to be competing with him, or with anybody."

* * *

Business Is in a Wary Mood

"From a strictly business standpoint," continued Schenck, "this isn't a time when many people would consider putting a million in cash into any enterprise. But I'd just love to own the Yanks.

'As I tell you, I've made some quiet inquiries. I would be willing to invest substantially myself and think I could get hold of any more that might be needed, if the deal looked good.

"You've heard about my difficulties?" he asked.

I told him I had, naturally.

"So," he continued, "you know I haven't much time to give to this deal just now. But you came here to ask me if I was interested and had considered it, and my answer is yes.

"If the opportunity presents itself and the baseball people think I'd make a good—what do you call it, mogul? Then, I tell you again I'd love to own the Yankees and will make every reasonable effort to put the deal across."

Which, so far as this column is concerned, would be both a break for baseball and for Joe Schenck. I think I know sincerity when I come across it, and I'm sure he feels as he says that the sportsmanship angle should be first in the ownership of a ball club such as the Yanks.

As for the future of the club and the future of the chain . . . Well, with Ed Barrow at its head, George Weiss running the farm system and Joe McCarthy managing the team, it would seem to have about the same future propsects it has past record.

In short, here's a buyer in search of a fine team and a fine team in search of a buyer. It would look to be a spot for certain parties to get together.

Sox Hurlers Get Acid Test

By HUCK FINNEGAN

TAMPA, Fla., March 7—Joe Cronin should have a pretty fair gauge of his Red Sox pitching staff by Monday.

He already has seen Dasso, Fleming, Hughson, Brown, Dickman, Dobson, Wilson, Powell, Mustaikas and Hash in action in the intrasquad games at Sarasota, and on the three-game road trip which started against the Reds here today he had a chance to see more of his new hurlers under fire, the only true test of a pitcher.

The Sox skipper planned to use Newsome, Judd and Rich three inning apiece against the Reds today. Tomorrow in Miami he will use Ryba, Harris and Wagner against the Giants, and follow them up Sunday against the same N. L. club with Hughson, Fleming and Johnson.

IMPORTANT TRIP

This week-end trip is of great importance because Cronin banks on picking up a couple of starting pitchers from the scene who are scheduled to work against the Reds and Giants.

A word about each of the nine.

NEWSOME — Twenty-nine-year-old veteran up from San Diego where he had a 23-11 record in '40. Has varied assortment of pitches, including sailer, sinker and knuckle ball. Seasoned campaigner, cool under fire with fine chance to stick. A right-hander.

JUDD—Thirty-year-old veteran up from Sacramento where he had a 22-13 record in '40. Southpaw and smart. His cross-fire poison to left-handed batters, and he comes up and over against right-handers. Rated highly by Sox chieftains. "He's ready for bell right now," said Cronin a week ago. In fine trim, having thrown for month before he left his Ontario home for Sarasota.

RICH—Sensation of early '39 season who has had arm trouble most of the time since. Celebrates 24th birthday Sunday but has had considerable minor league experience. No pitcher has shown more stuff in camp. Breaking handles of batters' sticks with his fast ball, which is very much alive. Little overweight but is laboring diligently to get it off. This should be his year.

RYBA SMART, FIT

RYBA—Thirty-five-year-old veteran of Cards chain gang who won 24, lost 8 for Rochester in '40. Cronin picked him up after seeing him work night game last year. Smart and in great trim. Probably will be used as spot pitcher, relieving fast ball type. Most of Mike's stuff is more puzzling than fast. Sure to be kept.

HARRIS—Farthest advanced of any Sox pitcher. Won four for Sox last spring before being returned to Scranton. If he tends to business and learns his lessons well, nothing can keep him from starting post. Only 23 years old.

WAGNER—First test year. Won 20 for Minneapolis couple of years back, won 11 straight for Louisville after being sent back by Sox last year. Sox likes them big and strong, however, and it is doubtful if handsome Charlie sticks. Fourth and last chance with Sox. Still only 24.

HUGHSON—Looked like million dollars against varsity last Wednesday. Held them to one hit in three innings, and mixed pitches well. Six-three and made of piano wire, he has excellent chance to make grade despite 7-11 record last year at Louisville. Sox bigwigs rate him highly. Only 25.

FLEMING A-1 PROSPECT

FLEMING—Pitched well for Sox late last season after winning

Foxx On Sidelines

SARASOTA, Fla., March 7—The Red Sox were without the services of their sluggers, Jimmy Foxx and Ted Williams for their first exhibition this afternoon with the Cincinnati Reds. Foxx hurt his right wrist in a fall yesterday and Williams hasn't arrived at camp.

ONE-HANDER—Sizzling drive is scooped up by Eddie Miller while swan diving in a batting drill at the Bees' San Antonio training base. The spectacular playing of Miller, considered baseball's best shortstop, drew praise from the Texas fans. He is one of the most sought after players in the N. L. but Bob Quinn and Casey Stengel spurned many bids for the young infielder.

BEES OPEN 17-GAME BROWN SERIES

By BILL GRIMES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 7—After working out for almost two weeks, during which they were only three warm days, the Bees open a 17-game series with the St. Louis Browns tomorrow afternoon at Tech Field, the home of the San Antonio Missions.

The Bees didn't get a break from the weather man since they came here. They were here for four days before the sun put in an appearance and during that time it was cold.

Then, following a couple of good days, they encountered bad weather again, and last night the wind sounded like it was the advance guard for a cyclone.

During the first week they were in camp, the Bees practiced at Alamo Stadium, where the turf was firm, and as a result the batterymen rounded into shape.

When the rest of the squad reported, Manager Stengel held practice sessions at the new Pitman-Sullivan Park, where the soil is so sandy that it is too risky to run any players.

JAVERY SETTING PACE

Javery was the first Bees' hurler to round into condition and he has looked great in batting practice against his teammates. He has always been "quick" and

Rindge Meets Champs at Tech

The third day of the 16th annual M. I. T. basketball tourney continues today with the semi-final rounds in both Class A and B.

On the afternoon card the B division swings into action with Framingham meeting Chelmsford in the opener at 2:30 followed by the Braintree-Milford clash at 3:30.

And on the evening program it's Rindge vs. New Bedford at 7:30 and Attleboro vs. Chelsea in the concluding match at 8:30.

Unbeaten Rindge proved its claim as the leading usurper of New Bedford's crown as the Technicians got by their 14th straight game without a loss yesterday topping Quincy 29 to 25.

In the other three preliminary rounds of the second day session, Chelsea drubbed Brookline 42 to 24; Attleboro downed Lynn Classical 37 to 31 in a hair raiser, and New Bedford, defending Massachusetts Eastern champions, topped Beverly 31 to 28 in a hard struggle.

Cubs' Glamour Boys To Go on Air

AVALON, Cal., March 7 (AP)—The two glamour boys of the Chicago Cubs, Dizzy Dean and Lou Novikoff, will be rivals on the radio next week. Each has received permission to appear on national hookups.

Diz will get to the mike first. Diz also had an edge on the baseball diamond yesterday, allowing only one single and no runs in two innings of a camp game. Novikoff laid off with an ailing back.

Finney Handy Man Around Sox Camp

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 7—It's nice to have a fellow like Lou Finney around your ball club.

Last year, the personable Alabaman started the season in right field in place of the limping Dom DiMaggio and hit the ball so fiercely that Dom had to sit on the bench until July.

And then, when Jimmy Foxx moved behind the bat, Lou stepped in at first base and carried on as if that was his natural position.

He's a good sound ball player, is Lou, and two years ago when Jim Tabor was suspended Joe Cronin thought seriously of shifting him to third to replace Tabe.

GREAT ARM

It would have been a good move, too, judging from Lou's exhibition at the far turn during the Team B infield drills here. He can move his six-foot, 190-pound frame around the hot corner as fast as one could wish. He's fast, exceptionally fast, and he can hit.

But it was throwing that caught our eye.

We thought we had seen the ultimate in infield throwing when George Kelly played third base and Bill Terry first in a spring exhibition game for the Giants in 1924. No stronger, more accurate arm ever shot the ball between third and first than the present Bees' coach and the Giants' manager.

But that was long before we saw Lou Finney and Red Walsh. Everybody knows by now how young Walshie can throw, but few realize the power of Lou Finney's arm, especially since Dom DiMaggio came to town.

COST PYTLAK FIVE BUCKS

Lou can whistle the ball across the diamond as fast as any third baseman that ever lived, and more accurately than most of them. His throws drew rounds of applause from the spectators.

We had been talking about throwing with Frankie Pytlak when Lou Finney stepped out of the shower. Frankie and Lou have adjoining lockers in the clubhouse.

"There's the son-of-a-gun that can throw," said Frankie. Cost me $5 last year to learn it."

It was this way. Frankie was catching for Cleveland when the Sox came to town. He had been trying to rib Finney and bet him $5 he couldn't throw a ball over the right field fence at League Park.

"It seemed a shame to take the money," said Frankie, "because I knew he hadn't even warmed up. So I said, 'Lou, old boy, I'll be a good fellow and give you three tries.'

PAID FOR WINDSHIELD

"Okay," says Lou, "winds up and throws the ball so far out of the park that I thought Ruth had hit it. On the first throw, too, without even warming up."

"I paid him, but I had some fun with him anyway. I fixed it with a fellow to go into the clubhouse after the game and have him charge Lou $7.50 for breaking his windshield with the ball.

"So you were the guy that did it," shouted Lou, and away he went after Pytlak as fast as he chased that $7.50 ribber out of the clubhouse.

DEFENSE PLAN NOW WORRIES HORSEMEN

And Warren Wright—the thoroughbred club of America's 1940 selection as "horseman of the year" because of his patronage of racing and efforts to improve breeds—is carrying the torch for the horses.

The battleground is a 600-acre tract less than Derby distance from Wright's famous Calumet Farm near here—and less than a furlong from the Keeneland race track entrance.

On it the city and county propose to construct with federal help a $750,000 commercial airport.

WRIGHT IN FLORIDA

Substance of his protest, presented to city officials by Dan J. Mahany, Wright's farm manager, is that the airport and its noises would be "objectionable to horses and horsemen" at Keeneland and would "react unfavorably toward physical progress" by thoroughbreds and other livestock.

The controversy even has reached official Washington. Wright, according to Mahany, is seeking a delay of work on the airport from Maj. Lucius D. Clay, executive head of the Army and Navy Board of National Defense.

His request was signed by three other well-known horsemen, P. A. B. Widener, Arnold Hanger and J. O. Keene.

Johnny Mize Forces Cards to Alter Plans

By the Associated Press

HAVANA, March 7—The Brooklyn Dodgers went to the movies last night—the ones President Larry MacPhail had made secretly at Ebbets Field last fall to show up his players' faults. Manager Leo Durocher and Coach Dressen lectured the Dodgers on the points shown by the films, which were "directed" by Van Lingle Mungo while he was recovering from an arm operation.

AVALON, Cal.—The two glamour boys of the Chicago Cubs, Dizzy Dean and Lou Novikoff, will be rivals on the radio next week. Each has received permission to appear on national hookups. Diz will get to the mike first. Diz also had an edge on the baseball diamond yesterday, allowing only one single and no runs in two innings of a camp game. Novikoff laid off with an ailing back.

ORLANDO, Fla. — Whatever honor is attached to hurling the Washington Senators first exhibition Sunday will go to young Walter Masterson. Manager Bucky Harris had planned to use rookie Joe Beck for the first three-inning stretch, but changed his mind.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — If holdout Johnny Mize doesn't come to terms with the St. Louis Cards soon, then Don Padgett, who has been an outfielder and a catcher, may get a trial at first base. President Sam Breadon discussed the switch with Manager Billy Southworth yesterday. In the meantime Padgett is rooming with veteran Catcher Gus Mancuso to pick up pointers on backstopping.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Pitcher Paul (Dizzy) Trout of the Detroit Tigers believes he has improved his delivery by changing to an overhand style.

"Watch my curve," he told Manager Del Baker, and threw one.

ANAHEIM, Cal.—Connie Mack's youthful Philadelphia Athletics have shown enough power in their first two exhibition games to make their pitchers feel happy. Frankie Hayes and Sam Chapman have notched home runs and Crash Davis, Hal Wagner and Pete Suder have contributed important extra base wallops to the A's two victories.

HAVANA—Harry Eisenstat, Marv Center and Joe Krakauskas were assigned to the pitching mound today for Cleveland's exhibition against the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Indians arrived yesterday and worked out for two hours in Tropical Park.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The possibility that rookie Phil Rizzuto may be drafted into the Army soon has the New York Yankees' infield plans up in the air again. Rizzuto was notified yesterday he would be called soon for a physical examination. Manger Joe McCarthy said he had the veteran Frank Crosetti available, but that he might also switch Joe Gordon to short. Gordon, heretofore a second baseman, was installed at first just this week.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal.—Frank Frisch says his Pittsburgh outfield of Maurice Van Robays, Vince DiMaggio and Bob Elliott would stack up against any in the National League, but some rookies are making determined bids to stick with the club. Ed Stewart, Ralph Kiner, Eddie Yount, Frank Kalin and Hal (Suitcase) Simpson all have looked good in workouts.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Nick Etten looks like he will fill Mgr. Doc Prothro's order for a first baseman for the Phillies. Etten has hit and fielded well enough so far to assure himself a permanent post.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Jack Kramer, who has had one foot in the minors and the other with the St. Louis Browns for two seasons, will get a chance to prove himself in an exhibition against the Boston Bees tomorrow. Kramer won 20 games for San Antonio in 1938 and says he is ready now to be a winning pitcher in the American League.

PASADENA, Cal.—The excess of infielders on the Chicago White Sox's squad means but one thing to Catcher Mike Tresh: "This ball club is going places."

"I mean we're going to be up there with a shot at the lead," he added. "For one thing, we've got second basemen, Knickerbocker, Webb and Kolloway, who'll save games for us."

MIAMI, Fla.—Harry Danning has decided that playing left field, compared with his former laborious duties as a catcher, is a soft touch To speed the experiment of converting him into an outfielder, Manager Bill Terry had him play leftfield for both sides in a camp game yesterday, and during the whole afternoon he was offered only one fielding chance—which he caught with unexpected dexterity.

17 games for Hollywood. Has shown exceptionally fast ball in batting practice. If he can improve curve, he'll be whiz because he has been well-seasoned in minors and is strong as a horse. Only 25.

JOHNSON—Southpaw of 21 who won six for Sox last year after joining them July 16. Should be regular from start this year. One of team's aces.

If three of them can keep up their good work, and it seems most likely that at least that many will, the Sox pitching will be better than any time within the past three years.

Remaining behind in Saratosa as the club left this morning were Pitchers Grove, Butland, Sayles, Dobson, Wilson, Dickman, Brown, Powell and Mustalkis; First Basemen Campbell and Flair, Second Baseman Doerr, Catcher Red Walsh and Outfielder Ted Williams

DOERR HAS SORE TOE

Making the three-day trip are the nine pitchers mentioned above, as well as Herb Hash, Catchers Pytlak, Peacock and Berg; Infielders Foxx, Lupien, Carey, Hale, Cronin, L. Newsome and Tabor; Outfielders DiMaggio, Finney, Pete Fox, Barrett, Spence; Coaches Shellenback, Daly and Duffy; Trainers Win Green and Johnny Orlando, and Traveling Secretary Phil Troy.

Bobby Doerr, suffering from an ingrown toenail, is working out with the top cut off his shoe . . . Grove will be in charge of the stay-at-homes, who will work out in the morning . . . At least Ted Williams should be able to get plenty of hitting while the rest of the boys are away because nine pitchers are staying in camp . . . Bill Butland is all right again after being whacked on the shin by a line drive from Foxx's bat.

LES CANADIENS' CHANCES SLIM FOR PLAYOFFS

The beleaguered New York Americans finally have been mathematically eliminated from their already remote chance at the Stanley Cup play-offs, but the rights o the downtrodden are being preserved by the Montreal Canadiens

Les Canadiens came up to their final game with the strong Toronto Maple Leafs last night without a single victory and only one tie to show for seven previous matches this season.

They had a rookie goal-tender, Palu Bibeault, who had been signed out of the amateur ranks just a few hours earlier. But they thrilled 9533 Montreal fans with a 4-3 triumph to show that it could be done.

BIBEAULT NERVOUS

Bibeault was nervous at the start and let the Leafs whip away to a 3-1 lead in the first period, but once he settled down the youngster shut Toronto out. Late in the second period he was nothing less than brilliant in rebuffing the Leafs while his team was two men short because of successive penalties, and this performance was justly rewarded.

Early in the third period center Johnny Quilty slammed home the deciding goal and the victory was Montreal's—effectively preventing Toronto from creeping into a tie with the idle Boston Bruins for first place.

The Detroit Redwings mauled the Americans, 6-1, in the night's other game and took over exclusive possession of third place.

RECORD EQUALLED

His spectacular show was accomplished with fine assistance from his line mates, Gus Giesebrecht, who had assists in all four tallies, and Syd Howe, who took part in three.

CHICAGO HEAD BLASTED; FOE WANTS MORE SPORTS

CHICAGO, March 7 (INS)—The undercurrent of distrust and recrimination which has characterized the relationship of the University of Chicago and other Big Ten schools since Chicago withdrew from intercollegiate football competition a year ago threatened today to explode in a fight which may rock the conference from end to end.

Latest and most forthright statement in the simmering controversy brought about by Chicago charges that the other Western Conference schools are able to maintain their athletic programs only by subsidization and the proselyting of amateur athletes came last night from Wendell S. Wilson, director of athletics at the University of Illinois.

Wilson, speaking at the annual Champaign Kiwanis Club banquet for the Illini basgetball team, declared he was in favor of dropping Chicago from the conference entirely, and he assailed the stand of President Robert M. Hutchins of the Chicago university, a leading exponent for de-emphasis of intercollegiate athletics.

SORRY OVER VOTE

"I am sick and tired of reading newspaper and magazine quotations in which Mr. Hutchins attacks our intercollegiate athletic program," Wilson declared. "I feel myself guilty, along with some other, athletic directors of the Big Ten, for not noting to drop Chicago from the conference."

Last year the conference voted to continue scheduling Chicago in basketball and other sports despite its withdrawal from football. At that time, it was reported some of the conference directors favored dropping the Maroons altogether.

Since that time President Hutchins has commented frequently on his belief that universities should soft pedal big-time athletics and encourage greater student participation in intramural sports. Wilson, however, took the opposite view, declaring colleges need more, rather than less, emphasis on athletics, and said:

NEED MORE EMPHASIS

"We need more emphasis upon athletics, and we will be better off in this Conference without a man who is continually attacking our program and attempting to tear it down."

There was no immediate comment from Chicago authorities, but the stand of the school is well known.

A few days ago, the Daily Maroon, student newspaper at Chicago, demanded that the university take the lead in a probe of subsidizing activities in the Big Ten, blaming such alleged subsidization by its rivals for its inability to meet other conference teams on equal terms.

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 7—Charles F. Adams, president of Suffolk Downs, frankly admits he would like to dispose of his interests in the Bees as quickly as possible and devote more of his attention to Suffolk Downs.

"I have been divesting myself of my interest in other sports attractions so that I can give more of my time and attention to Suffolk Downs," Adams told me.

"My son, Weston, has gradually been taking over my interests in the Bruins. I believe Weston and Art Ross have proved a winning combination in hockey.

"Hockey will always have a place close to my heart as I feel I had an important part in making a success of the professional game in Boston. At a time when amateur hockey was drawing large crowds in the Arena, I could see that eventually the professional game would replace it in the matter of public interest. We had some tough sledding at the start, but we finally succeeded in selling the game to the public. It has grown beyond my wildest expectations.

"I have given Bob Quinn a free hand in the management of the Bees. Bob is a splendid character and has intense love for baseball as well as a knowledge of fine points and management of the game. When I finally dispose of my interest in the club, I would like to see Bob in the picture in the key position.

"I like racing. That is, I am so whole-heartedly working to make Suffolk Downs the greatest race track in America. It was a thrill to see the track erected under adverse conditions, and then to watch it grow in popularity.

"I believe we now have the right combination. Racing Secretary Charles McLennan has proved he can get the best horses. Last year we had the leading thoroughbreds in the country for our $50,000 Mass. handicap. Charley McLennan put on the show at Hialeah Park this winter, and he tells me that Big Pebble and most of the other stars during the Florida racing season are coming to Suffolk Downs.

"Financially, Suffolk Downs is in a sound position. We have built up our cash reserves in view of the uncertain future. If we should have to run a race meeting at a loss we are in a position to do so. We would like to see recing conducted regularly regardless of what financial losses the tracks may have to sustain to do so.

"We never have hoped to make a fortune at Suffolk Downs. When we make a little money we shall increase the size of our purses so that the public will get the best possible racing and the horsemen a larger return for their efforts.

"I discussed this matter with Alfred Vanderbilt when he was at Suffolk Downs last summer. Vanderbilt now controls Pimlico and Belmont. He agreed with me that the tracks should put as much money back into racing as possible so as to assure the future prosperity of the game.

"The state should be willing to cooperate with us as they are our partners.

"In Massachusetts we have been fortunate in having a strong racing commission that has done everything possible to uplift the sport and to prevent any scandal."

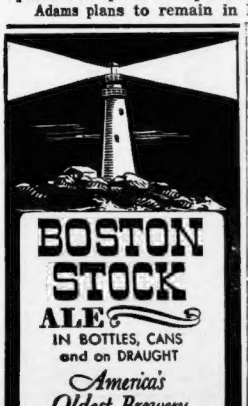
Adams plans to remain in Florida until the first of next month. He has a box at Tropical Park and may be found at the track afternoons.

While at Tropical Park, Adams has had opportunities to confer with Tom Thorp, steward of the track, who will once more be in the stand at Suffolk Downs this year.

Tropical Park is benefiting from the fact its second meeting is earlier than the one of a year ago. With so much cold weather in Florida this season, thousands of Northerners are remaining here in the hopes they will be able to do some surf bathing and get a sunburn before going home.

Tropical Park, like Hialeah Park, has not sufficient mutuel windows to take care of the bettors. If either of the Florida tracks had the betting facilities of Suffolk Downs, Narragansett Park or Rockingham Park, they would handle hundreds of thousands more money.

Hialeah Park, while a show place, only has 130 machines for sellers. At least 200 sellers are necessary to properly handle the huge crowds that turn out for major races. As a result of the cramped betting facilities, thousands of persons are unable to get their wagers down when they delay trying to bet until the horses get on the track.



TORGER TOKLE DEFENDS SKI TITLE SUNDAY

By TAP GOODENOUGH.

WINGED BOARDS OVER THE BELKNAPS!

Speeding into space from the takeoff at 65 miles per hour, more than 90 of the country's best ski jumpers, veritable human dive bombers, will stage an aerial battle in the U. S. Eastern Amateur Ski Championships at the Belknap Mountains area, Laconia-Gilford, N. H., on Sunday at 2 p. m.

At the head of this legion of leapers will be the great Torger Tokle, who, appropriately enough, is flying from the nationals at Seattle, Wash., to compete in this big meet.

It was at Seattle last Sabbath that the 21-year-old Norwegian was crowned national champ, setting a new record with a fabulous flight of 288 feet.

Tokle is the defending Eastern champion, holding the record of a 235-foot jump on the Belknap area 60-meter hill in March, 1940. The lithe lad has two legs on the handsome Winnepesaukee trophy, and a win this year will make it three "T.'s" the "Torger Tokle Trophy!"

In two years of competition in America the youthful jumper has won 28 out of 31 contests—practically unbeatable. His form is that of a soaring eagle, bold and brilliant. When he swoops from a takeoff his ski tips are pointed at the stars, so powerful is his leap. Yet Torger is very modest and unassuming, never satisfied with a performance, but ever endeavoring to better each achievement. In such incentive lies the secret of his success.

* * *

The 60-meter hill promises to be in excellent condition for the jumpers . . . All week a crew of men under the supervision of Meet Director Earle Chandler, and Ed Blood, chief of hill, have been hand packing the slope. Contestants can make practice leaps all day Saturday and Sunday morning.

* * *

Jason Sloan, assistant director, says that large crowds can be handled easily, and there will not be any traffic difficulties . . . A ticket to this meet entitles the holder to free use of all tows and lifts, slopes and parking in the area . . . The cross-country race will be run tomorrow, with Wendy Broomhall favored to win this event.

A "ski-ring" circus will take place on Cannon Mountain tomorrow and Sunday, where, due to postponements three race meets are scheduled! Rolled into one are the Eastern downhill and slalom championships, the Hochgebirge Club team races and the Appalachian Mountain Club downhill event . . . Anybody trying to run the trails for the fun of it had better wear a number.

Skiing satellites who should shine in these races inclue Sel Hannah, Roger Peabody, Dana Hinckley, Ted Hunter, Charlie McLane, Bob Meservey and Sam Wakeman. More than a hundred girls, fellows and "veterans" are expected to schuss and swerve through the flags in this meet, the biggest, the East has ever known.

SKI SCRIBBLINGS

Another popular Sunday Snow Train will be operated by the Boston & Maine to North Conway, N. H. . . . The railroad certainly made a sporting gesture this season in sending forth "Snow or Fun Trains" when skiing conditions have been poor.

Rhode Island Reds Win Hockey Title

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 7 (?NS)—The Rhode Island Reds today practically clinched the American Hockey League eastern division championship having pinned a 6-1 defeat on the Indianapolis Capitals.

The Caps were helpless before the hard-skating Rhode Island boys who engineered a pair of tallies in the first 9 minutes of play, added another in the second canto, and three in the final chapter.

Horton Smith Praises Play of Ben Hogan

CORAL GABLES, Fla., March 7 (AP)—Horton Smith believes Ben Hogan's golfing performance for the last two years has been as phenomenal—in a different way—as Bobby Jones' record when the Atlantan was monopolizing championships.

"That isn't taking anything away from Jones," smiled the handsome Smith as he relaxed after the rigorous international four-ball tournament.

"I don't believe Jones' achievements will be equalled in our lifetime, but you must analyze him and Hogan in an entirely different light.

"Jones concentrated on major tournaments—and won them. Hogan and many of the other professionals, however, are striving for consistent low scores week by week the year round.

"It has almost reached the point where victories are incidental. Naturally, Hogan and every other golfer want to win, but he would prefer to finish near the top in tournament after tournament than to win the national open and make a poor showing the rest of the year.

"At the moment Ben is recognized as golf's top player. Until he and Gene Sarazen won the four-ball, Hogan hadn't finished first in a 1941 tournament. Yet he was the top money winner and had the best average score during 1940 and is leading in both departments again this year.

Smith, a keen student of golf, turned to an analysis of his own game. In his four-ball semifinal match, Horton went into an amazing putting streak during which he scored birdies on seven out of 10 holes over the difficult Miami Biltmore course.

"The touch came to me suddenly," said Smith. "I had been playing worse this season than in years, chiefly because poor putting had undermined my confidence.

Fitchburg Boy Defends Title

A new list of New England boxing champions will be crowned for 1941 as evidenced by the list of qualifiers already sealed for the finals and from the list of entries rapidly piling up for next Monday night's third and final elimination show, to be held at the Arena.

Monday night's winners in all classes as well as the victors in the previous two tryouts, plus the state champions of 1941, will clash at the Garden on March 17 in the grand finals of the New England A. A. A. U. championships.

Another champion of last year who has qualified for the New England finals, but not at the same weight, is Jimmy Mulligan of Lowell, 147-pound king, who will strive to win in the middleweight class.

Other entries received yesterday included Joseph Conley, South Boston, and Joe Landry, Gardner, in the 118; Frank Toscano, Boston; Joe Montiero, Wareham, and John Mello, Cambridge, in the 126; Francis Welch, Lowell; Chris Ruggiere, Lawrence; Joe Nelson, Roxbury, in the 135; Vincent Lesino, Worcester; Donald McGrath, Cambridge; Lester Larkin, Malden, in the 147; Jim Mahoney, Lowell; George Berland, Boston, in the 160; Jim Curran, South Boston; Joe Hardy, South Boston, and James Griffin, Lawrence, in the 175-pound, and Ralph Williams, Revere, in the heavyweight division.

CARDINALS' MIZE TOPS HOLDOUTS WITH DI MAGGIO, LOMBARDI SIGNED

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—The holdout mist that shrouded the start of baseball's spring training has lifted like a fog melting under a bright sun.

The evaporation that has been going on quietly but steadily for several days swooped up Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees, Ernie Lombardi of the Cincinnati Reds, Don Padgett of the St. Louis Cardinals and Burgess Whitehead of the New York Giants yesterday.

That's a lot of high priced talent to bring to terms in one day, and virtually denuded the ranks of the holdouts.

DiMaggio, especially, had been expected to make a determined stand for a big boost in salary but was believed to have compromised at $35,000, a raise of $2500 and half of the increase he had sought.

Even so this was sufficient to keep him the second highest paid player in baseball and maintain his record of not having reported to camp on time since he joined the bombers as an $8500 outfield hand in 1936. He planned to leave his San Francisco home today and arrive in Florida Monday or Tuesday.

MIZE TOPS HOLDOUTS

Hank Greenberg of the Detroit Tigers, reputed the top salaried star of the major leagues, is one of the half-dozen important players who hasn't yet signed. However, he is not considered a holdout.

He received $39,000 or $40,000 from the American League champions last year in addition to bonuses and his cut in the World Series. He arrived home from a Hawaiian vacation a few days ago to find a contract that will provide a raise of two or three thousand dollars.

He says he will sign when he goes to the Tigers' camp this weekend. It may be that he wants to talk over some adjustment of his contract to meet his expected draft into the Army in June.

WANTS 2-YEAR-CONTRACT

The Chicago Cubs are carrying on a bitter battle with Outfielder Hank Leiber, a chronic late signer, and with Pitcher Bill Lee, who was paid $21,000 in 1939 and $18,000 last year, but was reported cut to $10,000 this spring.

Roy Weatherly, fleet centerfielder of the Cleveland Indians, has a little different plaint. He and his club have agreed on the amount of his salary, but he wants a two-year contract, and Owner Alva Bradley says he isn't giving any.

With the exception of a few scattered rookies or secondary performers, every other club in the big leagues has satisfied its squad.

Lombardi settled for about $18,000 in a telephone talk last night with Warren Giles, general manager of the world champions. It was understood the agreement included the promise of a bonus if the big backstop hit over .300 this year.

Earlier this week the Boston Red Sox apparently tamed the turbulent Ted Williams, who agreed to $18,500 and was to bring his signed contract to camp Wednesday. Up until today he still hadn't arrived, however.

JAVERY FIRST BEES' HURLER IN TOP FORM

In the three times that he has taken the mound at Pitman-Sullivan Park, he has breezed pitches by hitters who were supposed to know all of the answers when they had bats in their hands.

Javery will go for three innings and then Black Tom Early from Mission Hill will take over.

Early has been working hard since he came here and he has picked up some very valuable information from Wes Ferrell. He covers up better than he ever did in the past and is developing a fine change of pace.

Big Manny Salvo, who twirled such great ball for the Bees last season, will be Casey Stengel's third choice for box duty. Salvo hasn't been extending himself because the big boss ordered him to take his time rounding into shape. But during the short time he was on the mound yesterday, he showed enough stuff to warrant the prediction that he's ready for the Browns, or any other major league club.

PLAY 6-INNING GAME

Buddy Hasset and Buddy Gremp will get a chance to display their wares as first basemen, Billy Wietelmann will spell for Eddie Miller at short and Heine Majeski will relieve Sisti. And, Manager Stengel will also take a look at a few of his new outfielders, such as Earl Averill, Buster Bray, Mel Preibisch and Don Manno.

Just to get the feel of competition before tackling the Browns, the Bees play a six-inning Yannigan game this afternoon at Pitman-Sullivan Park.

Eddie Carnett and Bob "Ace" Williams, a couple of southpaws, will hurl for the regulars and Warren Spahn and Charlie Suche, two more port siders, will be on the hilltop for the seconds.

Double Bruins Victory Predicted by Clapper

"We'll not only win the National Hockey League championship but we're going on to take that battered old mug—the Stanley Cup, too."

It's a bold statement but when it comes from Dit Clapper it's worthy of some consideration for the Bruins captain is far from a "pop-off" gent.

In fact getting him to talk is a task that's far from a cinch. He's short on chatter but long on ability and a natural leader.

Every member of the Bruins squad looks up to Clapper and he has never let his mates down. Here he is in his 14th year with the Bruins—the oldest veteran in the N. H. L. from a standpoint of service except for Hooley Smith.

BETTER BALANCE

He's a cinch to make the "All" team again and if he doesn't win the Dufresne Trophy for the Bruins' most valuable player, this writer will be greatly surprised.

With this background, words from Clapper carry much more weight than usual and here's his view on the current Bruins squad:

"It's hard to compare this present outfit with the great 1929-30 as the game has changed much since, but if I was to take any one squad as the greatest I have ever played on or seen—it would be the present Bruins squad.

"Here's a squad that isn't top heavy in any one spot," chirped Dit, "we have balance all the way along the line. You can't choose between the Cowley or the Kraut line, so evenly matched are these two units. Never before in hockey history has a club had two outstanding trios so highly and equally rated.

BEATEN BY INJURIES

"With this outfit how can we miss? We not only figure to beat Les Canadiens Sunday but we'll sew up the title by clouting Toronto Tuesday and at the same time give them a taste of what they are going to get in the first round playoffs.

"We are out to make up for losing that Stanley Cup because of injuries last year. Everybody is in top shape and I wouldn't be surprised to see the boys ride right through the remaining five games undefeated."

Dit was interrupted at this time to answer the question as to how much longer he thought he would be able to last.

"A few years ago, I thought that 1940 would find me washed up but here I am moving into 1941 feeling great and having a swell year.

"Barring serious accident, I may have four or five more years of hockey left—depending on Hooley Smith.

"The Hawkman is now playing his 17th year of N. H. L. hockey which is a record and this may be his last season. If it is, I'll be satisfied with four more seasons for that will break his record which is my one big ambition.

"But if Hooley keeps playing, it looks as though I'm going to have to try to hang on until I'm 50 to smash his mark," concluded Clapper.

LEAFS MISS CHANCE TO TIE BRUINS

MONTREAL, March 7 (AP)—The struggling Montreal Canadiens achieved their first hockey victory of the year over Toronto, 4-3, with the help of Rookie Goalie Paul Bibeault, who had been signed from the amateur ranks just a few hours earlier.

Previously the Maple Leafs had won six games from Montreal and the two teams had tied one, but a crowd of 9533 fans received a victory present in the final game of the series tonight when Center John Quilty rammed home the deciding goal early in the third period.

Bibeault appeared nervous as Toronto took a 3-1 lead in the first period, but he became brilliant in the last two periods, shutting out the Leafs.

With the score tied late in the second period he withstood the rushes of the Maple Leafs in spite of the fact that Montreal was two men short on successive penalties to its defensemen.

Catholic Hoop Rivals Clash in Worcester

Catholic high school basketball rivals, St. Louis of Webster and St. John's of Worcester clash tonight at Worcester, and a victory for the Webster Saints may put them in a position for a place in the N. E. Catholic tournament at the Boston Arena.

NORTH ADAMS ENTERS FIRST BOWLING TEAM

Several busloads of Fitchburg bowlers will come down for the sixth annual American-Record grand candlepin bowling championships to be conducted at the Huntington Club from March 29 to April 12. Johnny Tagg, the dynamic little general of Fitchburg's keglers, is planning a bigger invasion of Boston than ever, with participants from school kids up to veterans of long years.

Johnny Tagg has been one of the biggest boosters for the American-Record congress since its inaugural back in 1936 and in those years his men and women team members have captured a goodly portion of the top awards.

He is the type alley owner responsible for the tremendous new popularity of candlepin bowling throughout New England. He was one of the first to make the alleys attractive to women and girls so that today he can proudly boast that almost half of his customers are of the fair sex.

In past years Fitchburg's enrollment in the American-Record tournament has run into the hundreds of competitors and this year promises to be bigger than ever.

North Adams is another town always liberally represented with teams which reflect the greatest credit with their sportsmanship and rolling skill. Now the McCuen Package Store of North Adams, one of the "old reliables," sends along its entry, first team officially to enter the amateur division. Capt. Joe Lippa filed the entry and mentions that his boys will roll in the singles and doubles, too.

Pics, Rovers In Final Game

Failing in their latest attempt to break into the victory column, the Boston Olympics will try once again tonight when they meet the New York Rovers in the concluding game of their two-game series at the Garden.

Also on the card will be the presentation made by Miss Dorothy Nash, editress of Pic-Fun to the most valuable man on the Olympics team. The winner, selected by the readers of Pic-Fun, will be presented a trophy made possible by 55 other royal rooters who pooled their money.

The Olympics displayed their worst exhibition of hockey of the year, last night in the opening game with the result that they were handed a 7 to 3 defeat by the Rovers who were skating faster than in any of their previous engagements here in the Hub.

It wasn't until the Rovers had piled up a 4-to-0 lead that the Olympics were able to break into the scoring column.

Nazi Ship Scuttled Off Cuba
